Corona pride is displayed everywhere on campus as shown with S.J. Sanders, Kristi Bingham, and Darlene Vega.

The Corona del Sol pommies use their poms to display school spirit.

On the following page Corona's 1987 student body president, Rick Perry, proudly speaks at the first assembly of the school year.

Who took the sun and its force and harnessed all its might? The Corona del Sol AZTECS of course! The sky was the limit for spirit and pride this year at Corona. "This year our school was full of so much spirit and enthusiasm. Organizing the assemblies was easy because the students were unbelievably peppy and fun to work with," said Lisa Magliola, junior.

Examples of school spirit were displayed everywhere. "Orange and yellow is so bright and original-Corona is easily picked out of a crowd. Most other schools are all the same, dull blue, red, or white, but because our school colors are so unique everyone knows we are Corona del Sol," said Grace Retiro, senior. The 1987 spirited pep assemblies were spent standing up and clapping by the students because they were so excited to cheer supportingly for our teams and to compete for the popular spirit stick.

The tenth year of Corona del Sol was certainly just as inspiring as the first. With Corona's superb student body and the unbelievable student enthusiasm, the encouragement is sure to continue!

Corona del Sol students and staff agree that we have been the number one school for ten straight years in spirit, dedication, imagination, educational quality, and uniqueness. Corona del Sol is the youngest school in Tempe, yet after only ten years we have the largest student enrollment ever!

When our school first opened in 1977 the student body consisted of only sophomores and freshmen and all together they made up for approximately 540 students. Ten years later, in 1987, we have a student population of over 2,200 and Corona hosted the largest graduation ever, approximately 500 exceptional Aztecs.

Throughout the years Corona has been recognized for its fine educational qualities and outstanding programs. Last year, our school was ranked among the top eight in the state for academic excellence by the Arizona Department of Education and it's committee of scholastically qualified Arizona citizens. Extra cirricular activities and events are certainly not overlooked at Corona.

4 SPIRIT

Dawn Parrish Photo

Fine athletic programs and club organizations are headed by top quality teachers, sponsors, and coaches. We at Corona del Sol are proud of our school and what we have accomplished over the years. Now, as we look toward the future, we set new goals and hope for many more outstanding achievements. "School spirit has improved tremendously in the past ten years. In 1977 the new CdS students still held a strong allegiance to the other Tempe school they had attended. Over the years, spirited Aztec students developed pride. Now, spirit excels." Mr. Mailes.

Weekends were COR

Some things have not changed for the typical Corona teen in the ten year span of our school. We still look forward with great anticipation to the weekend, spending tons of money for entertainment. "A typical weekend starts early Friday night at one of our games, coming at half time so we don't have to pay. Saturday night is spent out sometimes, maybe at an ASU game. Last and least, homework isn't considered until 8pm Sunday." said senior Todd Weir.

Our tastes have taken a drastic turn, 1977 was the BeeGees and disco, Saturday Night Fever and Saturday Night Live. This year it's any array of musical groups from Run DMC to Sigue Sigue Sputnik, Devil House, Flakey Jakes, Top Gun, and the Cosby Show. Now a girl can easily ask a guy out on a date and not be considered "fast." The ratings of our movies have changed from a PG to a PG13. R ratings are the norm with the language and sexual promiscuity reaching an all time high. School activities don't have the support they used to have ten years ago. Dances are attended in small numbers, mostly freshmen and sophomores while the upperclassmen search for a party, go eat, or rent a movie with friends. Prom still empties our wallets with the extras like limousines or flying to California for dinner before the dance.

Yes, there have been a lot of changes for the teenager from entertainment, music preferences, and opportunities, but the weekend is still looked upon as a release from the "dreaded" school. The times have changed and it's the people who make a difference. CdS teens stand out because everyone knows - WEEKENDS WERE MADE FOR CORONA!

CdS has definitely come a long way! From being the smallest populated high school in Tempe with 541 students in 1977 to now being the largest in 1987 with 2,217, we really should take a look at us now! Our faculty and curriculum has become one of the highest regarded in the state. Starting out with a teaching staff of thirty-four, Corona now has 105 with the staff receiving the 1986 award for excellence, making CdS one of the top eight high schools in Arizona. "Since this school began there has been a commitment to quality education. That's something that has not changed in ten years," said Eric Ladue, history teacher.

In 1977, Corona was built with the idea of using solar power. The plan was a new one, supported by the government, which unfortunately did not work. This did not hinder Corona's growth. Corona's first year saw only freshmen and sophomores. There wasn't a football stadium or housing developments, and the nearest lunch stop was the Taco Bell on Guadalupe and McClintock. Then came the boom of students pouring into this "country" school. Homes were developed and stores were built and CdS grew even more. In 1986 five portables were built and this year a new science wing was underway. The one lunch stop has grown into Burger King, Dairy Queen, Godfrey's, frozen yogurt, and even a trip home. Students have become more involved in school activities because now there is more offered to them. 1987 was the first year to see male cheerleaders and it has added a lot to our spirit. "Having guy cheerleaders is great because now we can do a lot more stunts and that gets the crowd more involved," said senior Carolyn Wood.

We still need a bigger student parking lot, an auditorium, and a swimming pool. It is amazing how much something can grow in only ten years. "Ten years ago CdS was a nobody. Now everyone knows who we are and what we are all about," said Shannon Tucker, senior. Corona has become an established institution known for quality programs and we should all be proud to say we go to Corona del Sol!

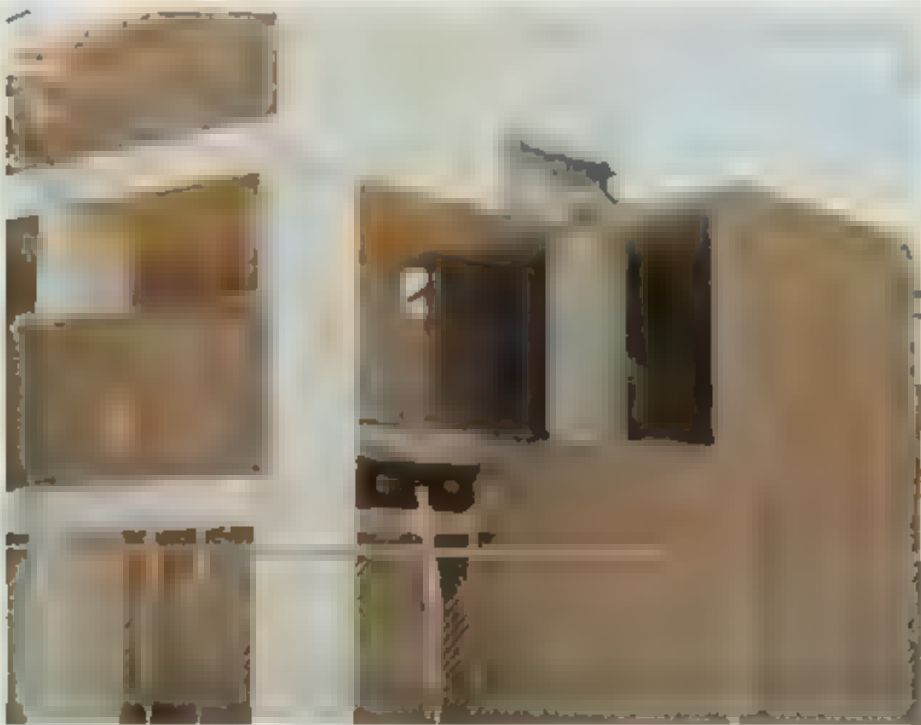

"The student growth has added to Corona's personality." Julie McCook

"There are too many freshmen!" Holly Samuelson

"We need a bigger parking lot, I hate parking across the street." Shannon McKnight

Junior Lisa Magliola and senior Brian Austin demonstrate their talent with a tricky lift. Male Cheerleading was a first for Corona this year and it added new dimensions for the varsity line. The portables were added in 1986 to accommodate the growing surge of CdS students. More portables are expected in the coming years.

Corona students are proud of the new Aztec marquee which was donated to our school by the 1984 Student Council. The spirited messages in the marquee always made students aware of future activities

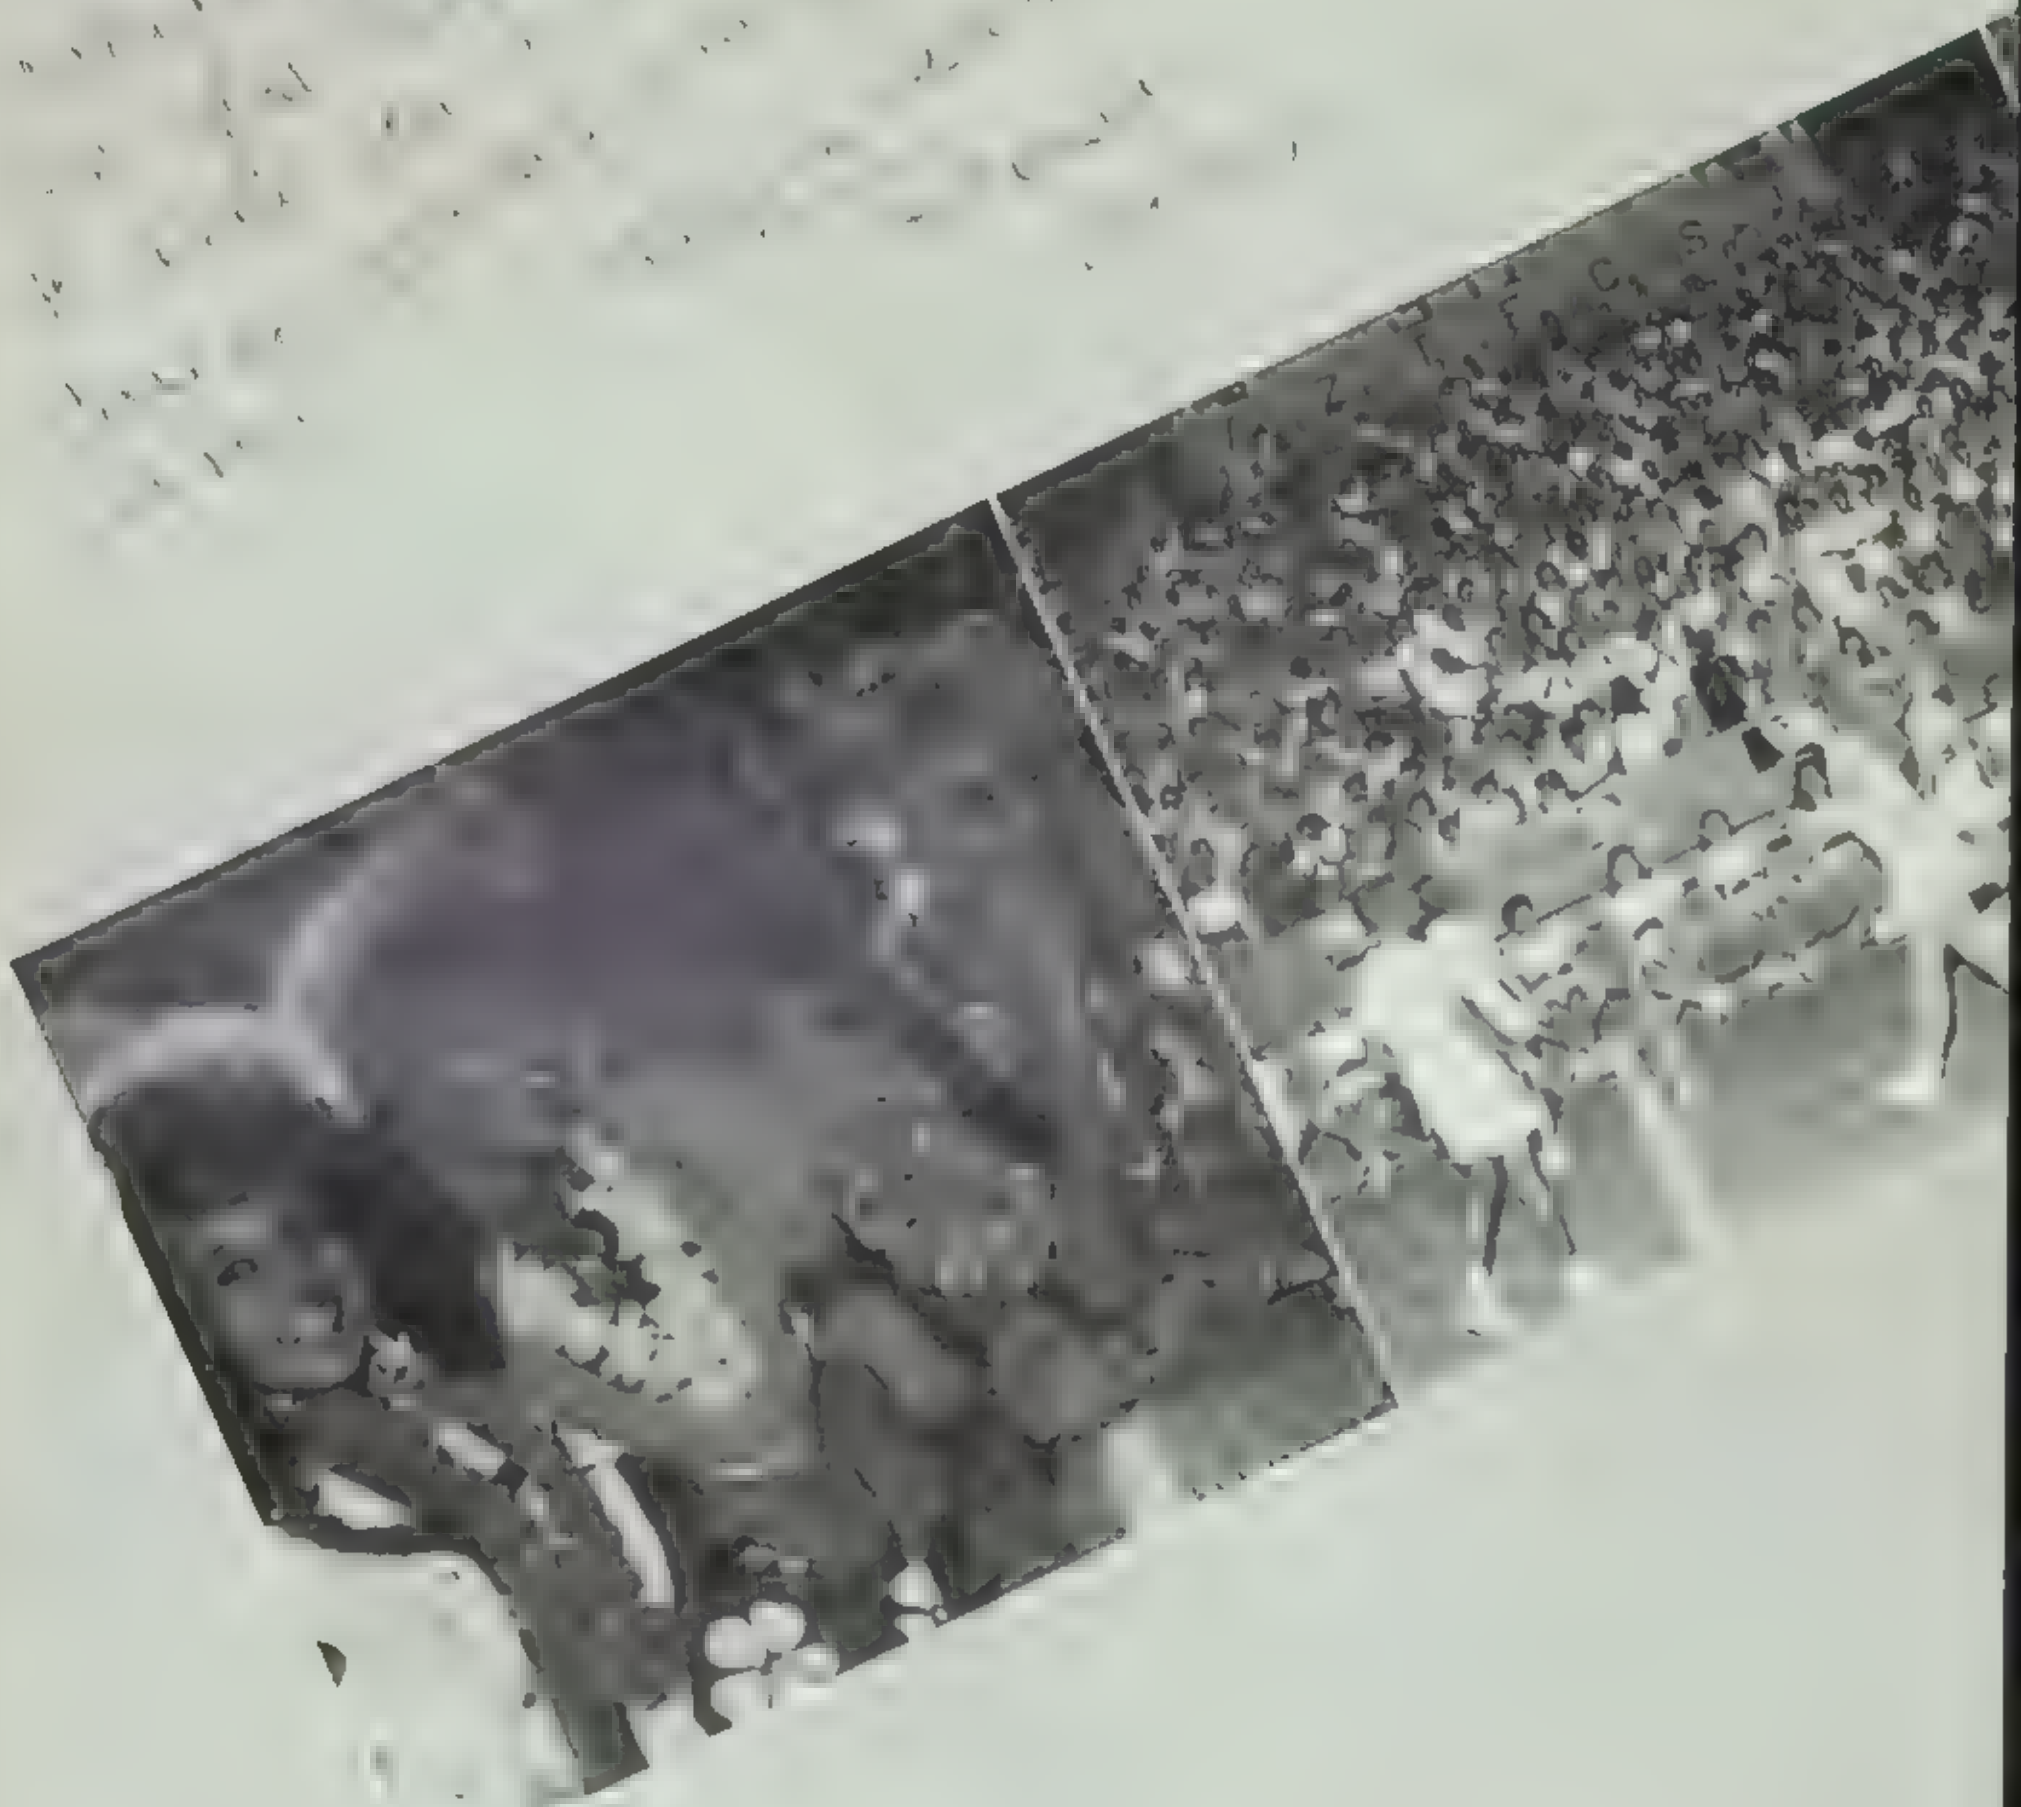

Construction continued all throughout the 1987 school year on the million dollar science wing which will provide additional class space and new improved laboratories

GROWTH 9

Look at our... ACTIVITIES!

Corona students took a wide-eyed look this year at activities. A big part of high school is the student activities. They can make or break the high school, and we were lucky enough to have had such exciting, involving activities to keep our spirit growing

Ten years ago to now, 1987, students involvement has grown to an all-time high, greatly in part to the tremendous influence of students. Activities have benefited from this growth, from the crowded frenzied cheering of the students in our pep assemblies, to the many dress up days to demonstrate our outstanding spirit. Activities also included student life, which we showed in the way we chose to dress, the cars we drove, the activities we partook in, and all the specialness that each and everyone of us showed. There was a lot to keep us busy this past year. Pep rallies were a great time to show school spirit and just cheer for CdS. Friday night football games were an excellent time to meet with friends and show school pride, students displayed their originality by wearing orange and yellow clothes or painting their faces on dress up days, and school dances like Homecoming, Coronation, and Prom were exciting times to be with a date and have a good time. These were but a few of the examples of the great array of activities students partook in at Corona del Sol in 1986-87.

But I've gotta drive!

How else would I get there? The Bus!

The most common form of transportation
People Power

Left Zelinsk Photo

The yellow school bus-is it really a freshmen limousine?

Unlocking their transportation are the underclassmen in their "parking lot"

Gathering in the parking lot students are both proud of and embarrassed about their cars. These cars range in price from a measley $500 to an outrageous twenty-grand

To drive is definitely cool! A large number of students drive to school this year. So many, in fact, a new parking lot is being built. During the time the new lot was being built many Corona students were ticketed for parking.

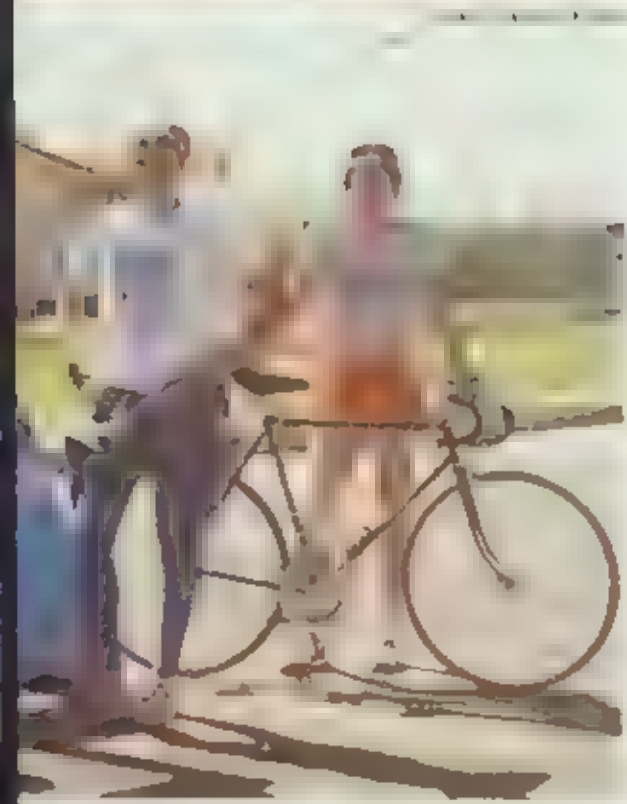

We wondered why so many students had to drive to school, so we asked around and came up with five main reasons. The first of the five is that it is cool. Second, why ride the bus if you don't have to? Third, a lot of the upperclassman have younger brothers and sisters they bring to and take home from school. Fourth, students that work either go straight home to get ready for work or they go straight to work. Last but certainly not least, EVERYBODY DOES IT!

Because most high school students don't have their own houses, kids, land or anything of real value, our cars are our pride and joy. Some of us don't have brand new expensive sports cars but we are glad to have one at all. Having our own cars gives us a bit of freedom. Angela Aguilar said, "I think that working for something makes it mean more to you. My car means a lot to me because I did have to work for it. I enjoy the freedom of having a car." Angela bought her own car by working at Little Ceasers Pizza. Drew Corely also worked for his car. Drew helped his father build their house. Students such as Ronica Cross, Kim Giese and Tina Karnes received their cars from their parents as gifts.

Driving is not the only source of transportation used by Corona students. Bryce Corriveau and Jeff Zelenski say that surfing is the only way to go. Many Corona students want to make sure they get to school therefore they depend on the trusty Big Yellow. A fairly new source of transportation is the Moped. Not too many Corona students own these, even though they are economical and cute.

It really does not matter which source of transportation we choose, we always get to where we're going! Greg Abbott says, "It's not the car you drive, it's what and who's in it."

Supporting their own forms of transportation are Bryce Corriveau, Jeff Zelenski, Lara Pizzuttillo, and Steve Graham

We are the future, the new generation of leaders and followers. Here we are with our kooky hair doo's, spiffy glasses, and spunky attitudes expressing our generations' special uniqueness.

Campus social life is an important time in the preparation of our future lives. What we learn today, socially, can enhance our economic and occupational opportunities in the future.

This is our time, to experiment with life, test our effectiveness, make mistakes, prepare for our dreams, improve our insights, hope for success, live with stresses, plan for college, endure failures, express compassion, sell our best qualities, experience happiness, learn to love, go out on weekends, fail, succeed, express our unique ideas, find our true selves, talk back, know everything, look our best, test our parents, examine political issues, fear nuclear war, and dream of future years. Let's take a look back as Corona celebrates ten fabulous years as a Tempe high school. On these pages we can see how Corona students have progressed and how the school has grown into the outstanding high school it is today

A popular club that has been active at Corona is the ski club sponsored by Larry and Eric Ladue. 1987 members, Brad and Bryan Cox, Garrett and Lynnae Villanueva, Carter Corey, and Ashton Covington along with Eric Ladue, show enthusiasm as they view a Utah ski pamphlet. Interest in skiing was just as popular ten years ago as shown by the picture of former members with their equipment

Varsity cheer member, senior Kim Giese, displays her awesome talent with a hurley jump. Cheerleaders haven't changed much over the ten years at Corona, but with the addition of male cheerleaders this year, many new stunts can now be done

The typical guy of 1987 has drastically changed compared to 1977

Mike Benich models the hairsty 501 jeans, and the comfortbale shirt seen around Corona's camp. The guy from 1977 has longer h and is wearing the fashionable C shorts and shirt seen often ten ye ago. Carolyn Wood portrays 1987 Corona girl with her blunt hair and teased bangs. While the g from 1977 has layered hair, parted the middle, and pencil thin eyebrows. The usual apparel in 1987 for a C ona girl included oversized blous cropped jeans, and stylish jewelry

Some of the 1987 Aztec football players are shown displaying their incredibly unique hairstyles. The typical football player at Corona in 1987 wore his hair not more than an inch from his head, making it easier to manage during the football season. However, in 1977, the Aztec football player hairstyle differed greatly. They preferred the lengthy wind-blown effect which meant the back of their necks, ears, and forehead could not show. The 1987 athletic physique grew immensely from 1977 due to dedication and hard work-outs in the weight room

The student population has grown tremendously in the ten years Corona has existed. A prime example of this overwhelming growth spurt is shown in the pep rally for the 1987 Homecoming assembly. There is no elbow room for students as they sit and watch the activities

Homecoming 86'

The tradition of homecoming has withstood the tests of time. At Corona we celebrate homecoming by a week of fun dress up days, the exciting game, and the elegance of the dance.

This year we started the week out with pajama day. Everyone decked out in their fanciest, funny p.j.'s. Secondly it was college day. The T-shirts ranged from our own A.S.U. to Yale. Next was clash day. We were blinded by the mixture of plaid and stripes. Thursday we blasted into the past. Our costumes were from cavemen time to the hip hippies. Lastly we really showed our spirit with orange and yellow day.

Ok, now it is time for the game. I can recall that there was just enough chill in the air, that the atmosphere was wild. The roar of the crowd made my heartbeat a mile a minute. As I watched the game I realized the score may not be showing our victory over Mesa High, but our team and our school spirit will always beat out any team. Yet a victory was not achieved. It seemed like the whole student body proceeded down to the local hang out, and discussed what party they were going to attend. When at the same time the security officer told them at least fifty times if you aren't gonna buy anything leave.

The final article of our homecoming week was of course the dance. A "Blast of Decade" was the theme of the dance. People really went all out to look elegant. The high point of the dance was the spotlight dance between Shannon McKnight and Jason Hatch. The small gym was beautifully decorated with multicolored balloons.

Homecoming week came to an end but we will always remember Homecoming 86'.

The Aztec band has grown in number and in excellence in the ten years it has been at Corona del Sol. In 1977 approximately thirty-one students were members of the first Aztec band. That number has grown to an overwhelming membership of a little over ninety dedicated participants. The band members have been exceedingly spirited at games and pep rallies and show immense pride in our school. Over the years the band has improved to awarding status. In 1986 the Aztecs won superior ratings at NAU and ASU Band Days. At the start of the 1987 school year they received a superior rating of number one at U of A- the first time ever for the Aztec band in Corona's history.

Starting out as an isolated

"country" high school, Corona del Sol has now grown into a center of suburban homes which continue to expand as this area becomes even more populated.

These are only a few of the changes that have occurred over the ten year span of our school's shining history.

THIS IS NOW!

Senior Walk

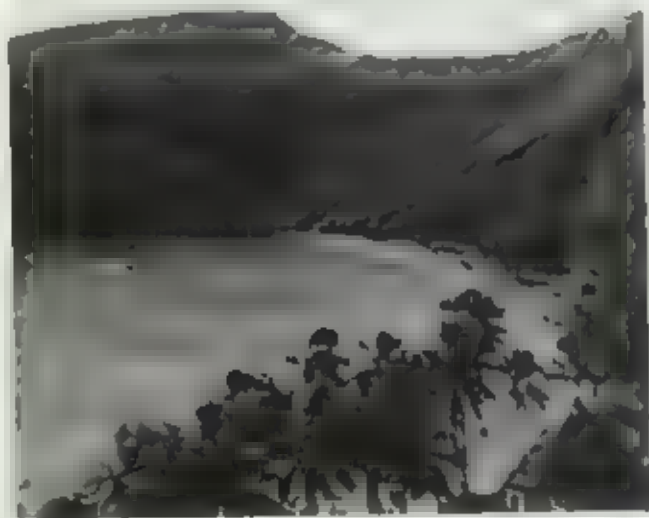

The large gym cannot hold the 2,200 students without everyone squeezing together. In great contrast, a 1977 pep rally shows students spread apart and comfortable with abundant space to cheer. In 1986 as well as 1987 the football stadium was sometimes used to hold the pep assemblies because of the enormous student body. In 1977 there was not a football stadium to hold pep rallies much less football games and the large gym was the primary facility

An honor for seniors that has prospered throughout the years at Corona del Sol is the annual Senior Walk. This event highlights outstanding seniors who were involved in school activities and academics. Senior Walk is traditionally held during the Homecoming assembly. It has grown over the years with 1987 hit ting the all time high of forty-five participants. 1987 was the first year Senior Walk was held in the large gym. In the previous years this honorable occurrence has been held outside in the football stadium. With fewer participants seniors were able to proudly walk under a beautiful arch and receive a kiss from a fellow classmate.

Vacations always mean a combination of rest, relaxation and fun. Maybe for senior citizens, but for us wild teenagers it's a combination of no sleep, excessive eating, just one great big party

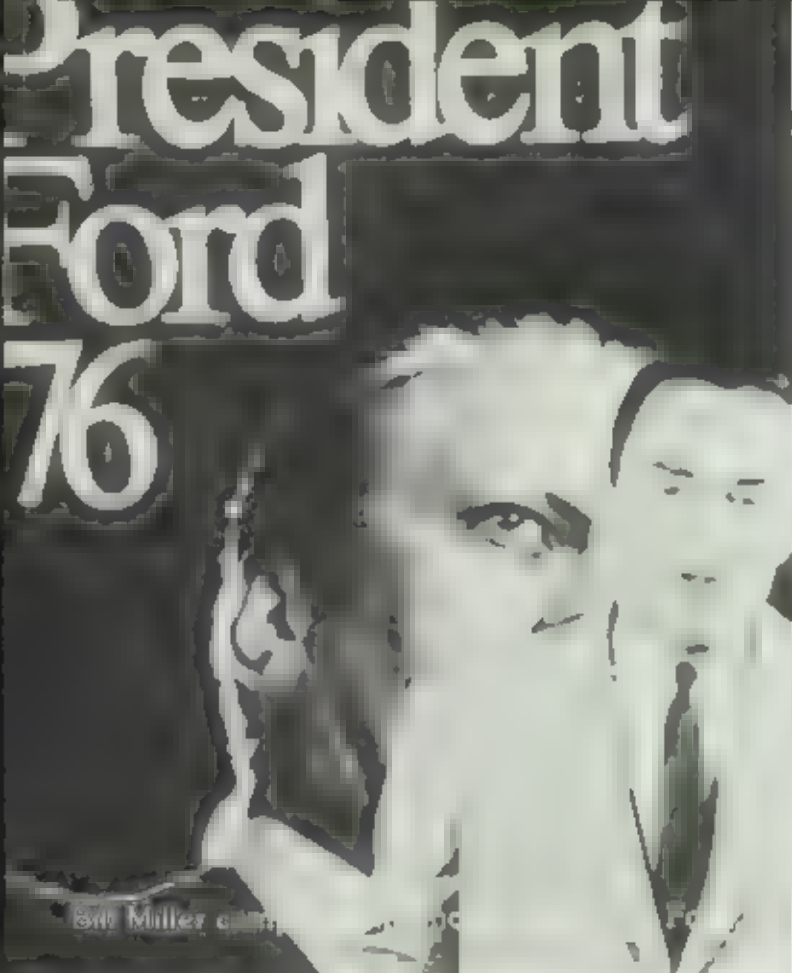

The beginning of most of our vacations begin with a rush to the airport and a long wait in the terminal. Then finally "Flight 621 to Maui, Hawaii" Your blood rushes to your head and the excitement is felt throughout the air. As you push to the front of the line the slim, statuesque flight attendance delicately rips your ticket. You find yourself running down the tarmac when you push down an elderly woman, as she tumbles toward the aircraft you race past her with high hopes of an interesting voyage. Finally you find a seat on the plane. Now you are on your way to your favorite vacation spot. After reaching your destination it seems like an hour before the luggage is unloaded. After collecting your bags, your vacation is officially started. Unpacking is the only thing holding you back from getting in line at the chair lift or hitting the beach

Whether it be Winter, Summer, Spring or Fall Corona students always find a great place to spend their vacation. Popular vacation spots are overseas, Mexico, California and Texas

World '87

A reflection of the past year brings back many memories having to do with the news around the world. Adults, unlike teenagers, wake up every morning to a cup of coffee and that day's edition of the daily news.

Teenagers, however, wake up as late as possible and get in and out of the shower in ten minutes, towel dry their hair, throw on make up (if needed) and get to their first hour just in the nick of time. Many Corona students first became interested in the news on January 28, 1986 when the first tragedy of the year occurred, eight seconds after the U.S. Challenger launched seven heroes of our nation were killed. This caught our eyes because one of the seven was a high school teacher. Another interesting occurrence during this year was Hands Across America. Americans came from all around to join hands in peace to help out fellow Americans in need.

Terrorism runs rampant in the Middle East. Several Americans were kidnapped in 1986. The Voyager was the first plane to go around the world without stopping or refueling. The Chernobyl affair and the bombing of Libya were also major events of the year. All these events and many more topped off the last year.

Tempe '87

On July 8, 1986 the Phoenix City Council approved a fifty year plan affecting all cities to curb water use by restricting certain areas of landscaping. Late in the summer of '86 one of the largest drug busts occurred in an Ahwatukwe apartment complex. The Phoenix police department reported that for the year ending 1986, the Phoenix metropolitan area had the highest crime rate ever. In late 1986 a young boy was abducted from his Tempe home. While trying to save the child one of the officers lost his police dog in a rough fight. During the summer of 1986 the world's famous CONCORDE jet landed at Phoenix Sky Harbor Airport and could be toured. Tempe was the sight for the country's Fiesta Bowl, held annually in this sunny state. Penn State and Miami were both well-known throughout Tempe and each person had their own opinions about who would win. As it turned out, Penn State was triumphant in the 1986 Fiesta Bowl. Arizona State University claimed it's fame when they won, their first appearance in the 1987 Rose Bowl.

Yes, Tempe was quite the place in 1986 and it is sure to continue to be the "spot" in 1987.

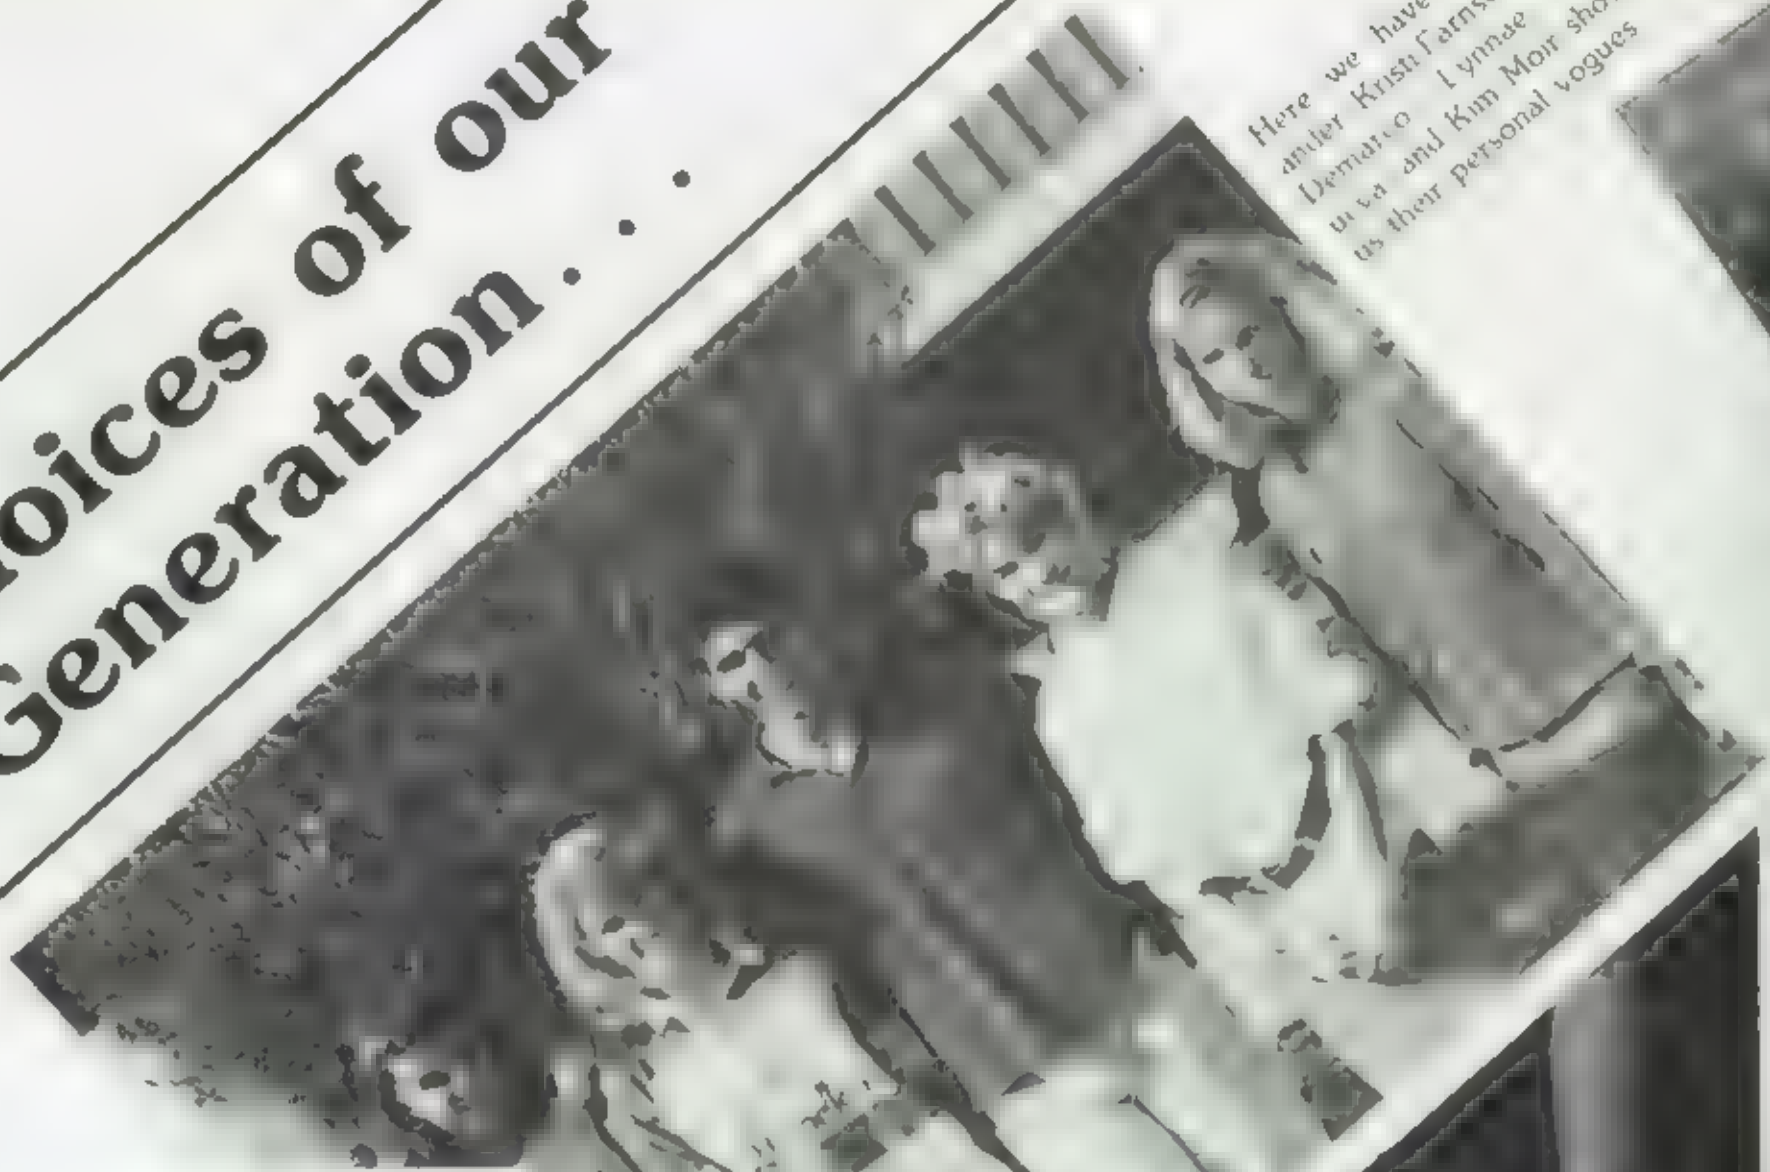

Corona '87

The 1986-87 school year started out with an average rate of spirit, but once Spike Lawrence teamed up with Brian Austin, Jeff Geyser, John Slater and Greg Abbott they set school tradition and spirit on end. They began the Orange Crush Crew (O.C.C.). The purpose of the O.C.C. was to get the entire student body involved in activities. Tailgate parties were attended by KZZP's Mike Elliot and Kent Voss. At least one thousand flyers were handed out each week. Food was supplied by Flakey Jakes and drinks by Crush and Jolt. Students were excited when notified that one of our classmates, Scott Woodford, was given a scholarship to A.S.U. After having back surgery his sophomore year, Woodford returned to the field only to play football better than ever.

Annoying noises were all traced back to the construction of the new parking lot and the science lab that is to be finished in the middle of '87. Limited parking is the reason for all the little stickers on the back of Corona students cars. This rule to have these stickers went into effect in February. Another new policy around our school this year was the attendance procedure. This rule has everyone going to class. The consequences faced for ditching class were steep. This year the student council sponsored United Way and the senior class helped the blood drive. Both city and school records were broken by these events. At Corona we stick together through thick and thin, maybe that's why this year was so great.

PURE SHOCK!! This is what our parents radiated to us this outrageous fashion season. I'd call them a range of untamed, classic, vicious, wacky, contemporary, vogue, yet with a touch of antiquity

Mixtures of different styles made this year at Corona interesting? In all seriousness Corona you looked Great!!

The Radicals expressed their want for world peace and personal beliefs through their unique styles. The beginning of this vicious style started in London, during the late 1970's by a man named Malcolm McLaren. His idea was to take young punks with way out hair-do's, and start a "Big Hair Band" Malcolm's idea surely made a big hit in London. One of the first members of his band "The Sex Pistols" was Johnny Rotten, later on Sid Vicious, got his claim for fame in this definitely radical group. Their songs were mostly of a rebellion of English Parliament. The rush of this extremist group brought kids of the United States a release for their strong political beliefs.

Simple styles said a lot for the men of Corona this past season You guys looked sharp. Guess,

Ralph Lauren, Fila, and even 501 blues were definite statements for our future leaders, followers and those in between. GQ styles hit big this past year but your smells beat out any look you could have had. Drakkar, Polo, Quorum, Kourous, the list goes on and the smell will linger in the air for times to come

Guess, Esprit, Mexx, Used, Outback Red, Forenza and Benetton, all of these styles express the trends most girls followed this past year. We wore everything from fullskirts to tight skirts, turtle necks to revealing V-necks, frilly blouses to t-shirts and so on. From head to toe we always looked great. Speaking of toes the big hit last season was boots; such as, Cowboy boots, Victorian lace up boots, riding boots and even some wacky looking hiking boots.

From "Radicals" to "Preppies" to "GQ" to "trendies" to "moderns", we all definitely said what our unique vogue was portraying

High school would not be high-school without the extra things we do. Having friends at school was essential because without friends going to all of the sporting events, pep rallies, trips to the library or maybe the more fun activities such as mock rock, which was when a group of kids got together and lipsync the words to the most popular tunes school would not be the same. The talent show was another fun event. If we weren't participating in the talent show we could probably have found a number of us in the audience. This year's talent show included, dancing, singing and there guitar numbers. On April 29th Seniors were purchased as slaves'. On the following Friday these seniors were humiliated by their proud owners. In April a blood drive took place. The senior class put in a great amount of time and effort in making this year's blood drive better than ever

Spring week began April 27 and went through May 1. This was quite an experience for all of us. Students enjoyed dressing-up differently each day of the week, especially on the famous "Beach Bum Day". Spring Week was greatly anticipated and wasn't a disappointment

A fashion show was put on by the fashion merchandising classes. During this show a variety of wedding dresses were seen. The show was seen by Independent living students, Hero students, and other fashion merchandising students

Last but not least we had to say goodbye to all of the graduating seniors. The commencement ceremony took place on June 4.

Spring is certainly a looked forward to season around Corona. All these special activities allowed students to be together.

Coronation is the dance that gives girls the chance to say how much they love you guys out there. It starts with a nice dinner. This year's hotspots were Trader Vics, Charley Brown's, The Pointe Tapatio and countless others. Then off to a fun-filled evening in the lovely decorated gym. As you walked into the gym you were surrounded by the romantic aura of "The Tunnel of Love". Pink and red balloons attached to coordinating streamers were scattered throughout the gym.

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the Queen and King along with their attendants. Jackie Holte and Spike Lawrence were 'royally' crowned. Their attendants also looked like royalty. Juniors attendants were Manny Baca and Katy Olivas. Sophomore attendants were Laura Southern and Kevin Austin. Freshman attendants were Amy Baldwin and Chris Rohrer.

Following the dance many couples had begun their evening adventures with memorable parties and fun-filled drives to the top of unknown mountains to rest their aching feet. When the night came to a close couples reminisce about the best Valentine's Day ever over a good-night kiss.

Dress up days

Clothes make the man! This is what we have all heard a million times before. When we were younger we dressed up to look older. Now during Halloween, Christmas and many other occasions we look as childish as ever

Halloween started with a real spook from the scholars at Corona. We saw everything from a baby sucking on a pacifier to a cute little play-boy bunny strutting her stuff

Students every year radiate a sense of spirit during holidays. Christmas is a very festive season. Many elves and Christmas trees roamed our hallowed halls. The Christmas assembly also made Corona's spirit show through. Mr. Cox sang a couple of Elvis tunes while our beautiful advanced dancers performed to a festive tune

Halloween brought out our advanced dancers again along with pom and cheer. This time, instead of a festive tune, they spooked us with the "Monster Mash." We all contributed to the spooky pep assembly during the Halloween season

Look at our EXCELLENCE!

An eye for excellence was what all academically inclined CdS students had this year. Academics, not just being grades, became a large part of the lives of many Corona students. Several scholastic opportunities were available for determined students. Many academic-related activities took place out of school. The select few who were chosen for the honorable Sister-City program became delegates to other countries based on good ambassador qualities as well as their splendid academic accomplishments in all areas. The NACEL Foreign Exchange program allowed three interested CdS students to experience the country of France. These students willingly traveled based on their academic success with the French language. The photo shown here is the famous "MAXIM'S," the "World's Finest Restaurant," located in Paris. Nancy Hendricks, a highly regarded senior, has participated in several academically related activities. In the above picture, Nancy is broadening her horizons as well as enjoying herself in Washington D.C. Hendricks was the only Corona del Sol student to participate on the expense-paid John McCain trip to the capital. For one week she was able to observe governmental procedures and participate in educational activities with students from other states. The prestige of belonging to the National Honor Society is what all academically qualified future seniors look forward to. The honorable induction ceremony took place last year and all qualified juniors were inducted by former members. This year, those new members were proudly recognized for their superior academic achievements and goals. Academic aspects of our school seemed to have become more important over the past decade. Students are learning to take advantage of challenging opportunities through participation and leadership. Whether it be in or out of school activities, academically related subjects have become an important aspect of many student's lives. From their experiences, these students have encountered new ideas and understandings and have related them enthusiastically to their peers.

While Nancy Hendricks was on her trip in Washington D.C., John McCain took some time to show her the sights and explain to her their importance.

The famous statue of James Madison attracts much attention from tourists.

One of the three chosen delegates for Girls State from Corona was Nancy Hendricks

Student body president, Rick Parry, was one of the three delegates chosen for Boys State

Front row at left is Corona student Kelly Torok, along with the girls from around the state who were members of her city at Girls State

These summer trips prove to be exciting

Girls and Boys State are a special program that were held at U Of A each summer. While there, delegates go to different seminars covering information on our Government. The girls lived on a floor in the dorms with 30 other girls, and so did the boys. These 30 people made up your city. They then had city, state and county elections. They participated in political rallies.

One of our own students here at Corona del Sol was chosen to go on the John McCain trip in Washington D.C. This lucky student was Nancy Hendricks.

In order to get chosen to go she had to fill out an application which covered information about her academic achievements and her school involvement. She was then interviewed by a group of judges from the social studies department. Questions she was asked covered current events and why she wanted to go. She was also required to write an essay on what she thought she could learn in Washington D.C.

While on the trip Nancy got to see the different Monuments. She saw the Senate and Congress in sessions and asked them questions.

Girls and Boys state was a chance to meet students from all over the state. The Corona students who attended were: Kelly Torok, Katie Roberts, Nancy Hendricks, Steve Gilbert, Rick Parry and Steve Walker.

On February 11th, 1987 at Corona del Sol, BSUA had one of the clubs' most important activities of the whole school year. This special activity is called "Career Day." This activity was started eight years ago by Mrs. Parham, the BSUA sponsor and also a teacher here at Corona del Sol.

All of the BSUA clubs throughout the Tempe High School district met together as a group for this very special and important activity. There were Arizona dignitaries who were in attendance talking to the high school students about what should be some of their educational goals and they discussed the students' personal goals.

The Black Student Union shows most of their dedication to these activities by spending time after school preparing for such special events. This career program seemed to help the BSUA members to grow both emotionally and academically.

The Corona del Sol students who had the pleasure of going to Sister City really felt that the whole trip was quite an experience. Pictured above are Greg Abbott, Kelly Torok, Brian Austin, and Jennifer Parrish. They were glad that they could share the experience.

BSUA members from all of the Tempe school district schools get together for a special Career Day held here at Corona del Sol.

Sister city brings social enrichment

Sister City is a very special program. It is where high school students are chosen to go to a foreign country and live with a family for a period of time.

Applying for this program starts by simply filling out an application covering academic achievements, involvement in school, (such as clubs and offices held), and awards and honors received. Applicants are also required to write an essay about themselves. After turning in essays and applications, participants go into a group interview with four other students for fifteen minutes. After the group interview, they cut some applicants, then the remaining students, still in the process of achieving Sister City, have an individual interview which also lasts for fifteen minutes. Applicants are asked questions which cover information on all of the different countries that are offered through this program. From here the finalists are selected.

"The whole trip was the best time of my whole life," said Kelly Torok. "The foreign people really have the same feelings we do. The only really different thing is that they speak a different language."

LIFT conference helps leadership

In October of 1986 Corona held a special conference in Prescott. This conference was to help improve the student's leadership skills. It offered many different seminars on organization, communication, leadership and so forth.

Everyone was assigned to four groups by colors. There was an orange, green, blue and yellow group. You had to attend all your seminars with this group that you were assigned.

Each of the student body officers taught their own seminar. Lisa Magliola on spirit, Helly Hefernan on business, Rick Parry on being a president, Brian Austin on being a vice president and Cindy Cooper on being a secretary.

This conference was organized by Mrs. Metcalf, Mrs. Boles and Mr. Honaker. They put a lot of time and energy into putting this conference together. They were very dedicated, and supportive of the conference and the whole idea behind it.

Through this conference many friendships grew and acquaintances were brought together. We, the yearbook staff, would like to say thanks to everyone who was involved in the conference.

During the LIFT conference, Corona students link arms, and together they sing the song "Stand By Me". This was how the conference ended.

At a LIFT seminar, Rick Parry talks on how to be a responsible president.

Here is a group performing a presentation on determining personalities which are important to have to be a good leader.

N.H.S. strives toward excellence

To be a member of National Honor Society you must carry a 3.6 grade average for five semesters.

The 47 selected students were initiated to the club their junior year when they received a few sprays of blue colored hairspray in their hair at school from former National Honor Society members. They also received a diploma at the initiation ceremony in May 1986 when former members made their closing remarks and welcomed the new National Honor Society members to the club.

The officers of this year's club were, Steve Walker President, Treavor Allen Vice President, Anne Matthias Secretary, Doug Gilbeau Treasurer, and Kelly Heffernan-Historian.

This is one of the most honorable clubs to be a part of as described here by Anne Matthias. "It's a great club because everyone knows each other. We've all been in classes together for four years."

NACEL participants develop family ties

Parlez-vous Français? Of course, any student who participates in the NACEL Program speaks French! The Nacel summer discovery program allows students with an interest in the French culture and language to travel abroad for one summer month. The student is pre matched with a host family, which they live with for the month. The student participates as a family member, and partakes in all events. Nacel has programs which work both ways. American students can travel to France, and French students can come to any state in the U.S.A. and stay with a host family.

CdS had three privileged students who were able to go to France this past summer. Kelly Heffernan hosted a French student in her home during the summer of '85 and in return, she was invited to his house this past summer. She toured Paris, the Alps, and Paris again. Kelly said, "Nacel was the best experience of my life. I learned so much about the French and their cultures. The hard part was leaving!"

Tracy Rychlyk was able to visit many places in France. She has participated with the Nacel program for three years, and has been corresponding with the same French family. She had a French sister who has also been to her home here in Tempe.

Leslie Syens was a first time participant in Nacel. She enjoyed her trip thoroughly. Leslie was able to tour Paris for her last few days in France. She spent most of her time in the Alps and the south. "I had so much fun and met so many people. All I want to do is go back!" said Leslie.

The Nacel Program permitted these three girls to experience the "true" French life. While at the host families they were able to practice their French listening and speaking skills.

One of the nominees for the nineteen eighty six West Point Academy Scholarship was senior, John Slater

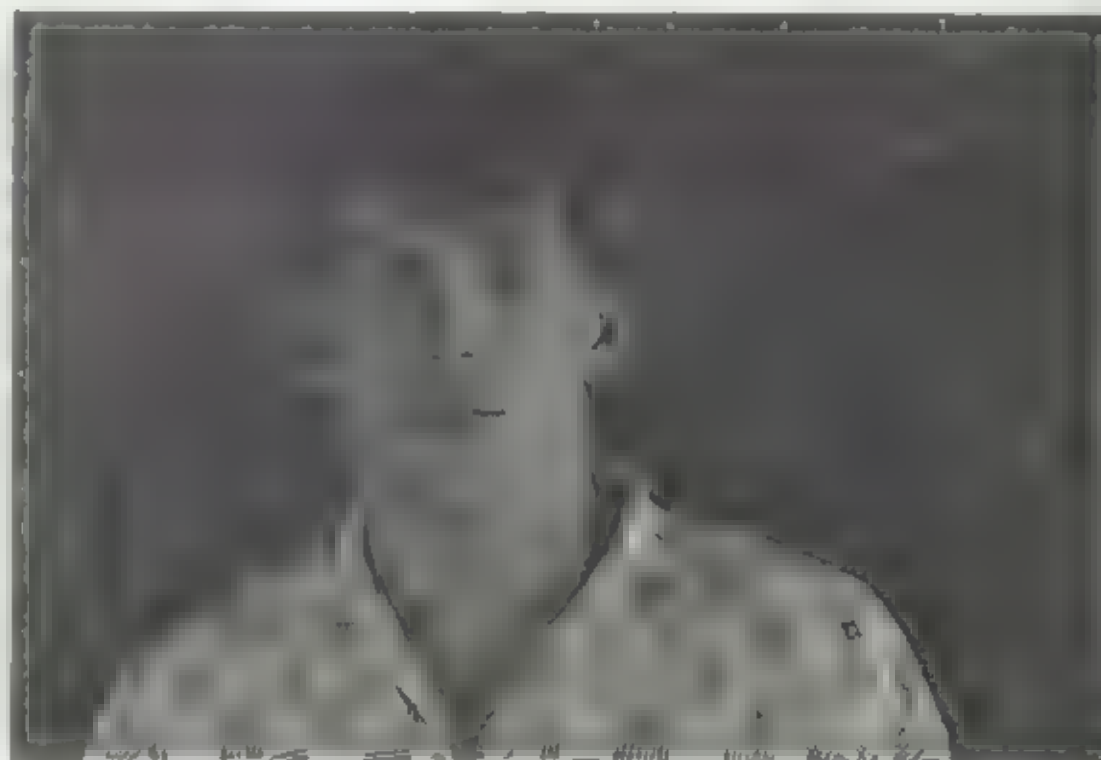

The Hugh O Brian Leadership Award for the Outstanding Sophomore was awarded to Amy Pedotto in 1986

Corona del Sol has a wide selection of scholarships that are offered from different colleges, businesses and organizations. What are the requirements? It all depends on what the student is interested in.

The scholarship requirements may depend on the chosen major, financial need, school and/or community activities, character references, testing scores or a grade point average", says Mrs. Kent. She also says that these requirements have not changed over the last few years.

Some of the scholarships that have been asked about the most are, The Western Savings Scholarship, The Elks National Scholarship Foundation, Century III Leadership Foundation, The Flinn Foundation and our very own Rotary Aztec Booster Scholarship.

Some of the in state colleges offer tuition and book fees to students in the upper 5, 10 and 15% of the graduating class. For example, the upper 15% are offered tuition and $150 towards books at Mesa Community College. Northern Arizona University offers the top 10% $800 towards schooling in Flagstaff, and Arizona State University and University of Arizona offer the upper 5% scholarships to their schools. All the students who receive these scholarships must maintain a high GPA to keep the scholarships.

Senior Pat Helfrich was awarded the Arizona State University Medallion of Merit

For seven years now Mrs. Kent has been involved in making the students at CDS aware of scholarships offered. The title she holds is scholarship coordinator. Mrs. Kent has the responsibility of gathering information from different clubs, business organizations, service organizations and colleges about scholarships and financial aid that they may offer to students. The information is then relayed to students through bulletins and teachers. Mrs. Kent also holds staff meetings with the other counselors to inform them of any changes or new scholarships. If anyone wishes to apply there is always an application or information for scholarships in the counselors office. Mrs. Kent is also willing to answer any questions students may have regarding scholarships and their requirements.

Foreign Exchange

The foreign exchange students were all members of student council. They met together as a group everyday during sixth hour. They really seemed to enjoy all of the activities and fundraisers that student council got them involved with.

Spirit assemblies were a real highlight for them because they don't have them in such countries as Sweden or Germany. They rarely hear the principals speak in front of the students in foreign countries.

The length of time that the foreign exchange students spend here depends upon the organization of foreign exchange they are involved with. They all really like it here at Corona del Sol. They found the student body very friendly. They felt right at home and found that Corona met all of their needs. They say that they will really miss Corona when they leave.

The foreign exchange students really enjoy meeting together as a group and discussing some of their experiences they have had in Arizona.

Look at our...

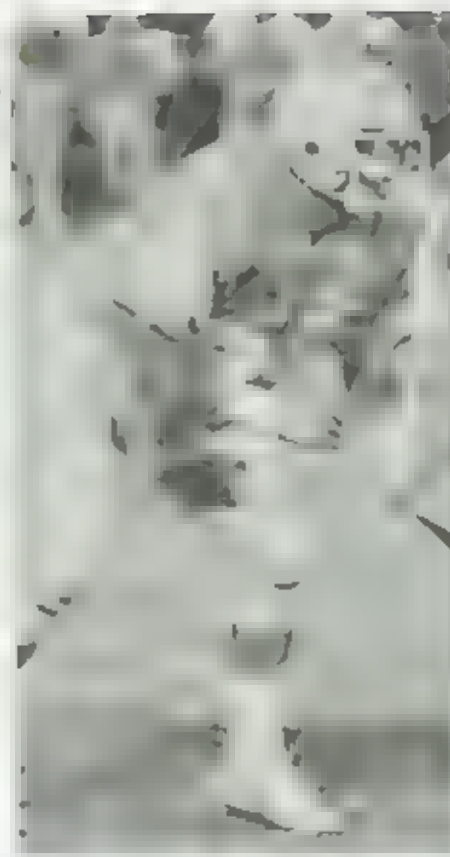

ATHLETES!

Over the past decade the Corona del Sol athletic department has definitely "had a good eye." All of our high school sports, whether Fall, Winter, or Spring, male or female, indoor or outdoor, have always displayed excellent sportsmanship. During the 1986-87 school year quality coaches emphasized long, hard practices, and the devoted CdS athletes "pushed themselves to the limits" at every practice, assuring more victories. Although all the Aztec coaches and players enjoyed their wins, all participants agreed that it wasn't whether they won or lost, but it was what each individual player learned from the game, and what they did to improve. All sports during this school year were extremely recognizable, however, a few sports had "eye opening" records that deserve credit. The school year started off "smashingly" with the awesome Lady Aztec badminton players. This young team of determined girls displayed overwhelming talent from their well achieved efforts. Ending the season undefeated for the second consecutive year proved a triumphant season. "Splashing" into action were those male swimmers! Working hard everyday on strokes and relay procedures, the devoted Aztec swimmers took tremendous pride in CdS as well as their team. Every swimmer was a winner, and the highly respected record of the boy's team greatly influenced other athletes all throughout the year. The girl's cross country team didn't miss a "pace" this year. Those few dedicated Aztecs proudly provided much hard work and maintained strong endurance all throughout their season. Finishing undefeated and placing in the tournaments was quite an accomplishment for these Aztecs. The Corona basketball team "bounced" into action this year. These varsity players were the "center" of attention in winter sports. Having an experienced team was a tremendous help to their victorious season. All athletes at Corona del Sol were highly respected and honored for their continuous determination. The superb sports programs available at CdS provided students with coaches that were willing to teach and improve the athletes abilities, as well as to provide fun competition.

Talent shines through disappointing season

Defense and the running attack was the issue for this years Aztec football team. The defense was led by MLB's Scott Woodford and Robert Summerlin who helped the Aztecs keep the strong tradition of a hard hitting defense, that ranked them among the top 10 of defenses. They may not have won much with their 1-9 season, but the day after experience for the opponent was a painful one. Their offense consisted of three outstanding athletes; running backs Donzell Pitt and Larry Marmie and quarterback Lane Reynolds who started later in the season. Larry Marmie, a junior, stacked up yards to impress recruiters a year early. Donzell Pitt, senior, who started by missing the first two games, impressed recruiters by amassing 1,011 yards and a single game effort of 292 yds., a new C.d S. record and second in the state. There were six guys who either got a scholarship or were contacted with a possible offer. They were Scott Woodford, Donzell Pitt,

Joe Birtz, Rob DeMarco, Brad Keilen, and Robert Summerlin. "We were close in a lot of games this year. We just couldn't get it all put together at one time until the last game. If we could have put it all together the first game like we did the last we could have really done something this year. We learned a lot about character and hopefully the last game will carry over to next year," said Scott Woodford and Larry Marmie.

Improvement for JV

The J.V. defense had a great year. They were among the best around the league. "Even though we only won one game (1-7) we were known to hit the hardest around the league," said Steve Lentini and Matt Hampton. "This team has talent, lots of talent, we just made too many costly mistakes and didn't put the pieces in the right spot to make it work," said Kevin Austin and Mike Hestrin. "Except fewer mistakes and a winning season next year." said John Wochner.

Outstanding players were Steve Lentini and Mike Hestrin. "Our goals were to learn, have fun playing, get better, stress our fundamentals, and win all city games. We met each of the goals for the season except the last one, which was to have a winning season." says Coach Leuck

Great year freshmen

This year's freshman team was one of the best ever for Aztec history. They had a winning season with a 5-3 record. It was supposed to be disappointing for Coach Le Blanc when he lost ten starters to injuries, but the second string players impressed the coach with 100 percent effort. "The losses were frustrating because of the narrow point margins. Two games were lost by one point and the other by two points," said Le Blanc. But Coach LeBlanc couldn't ask for more than 101% that his team gave him, except avoid injuries. This years MVP went to outstanding QB

Jackie Mori who led his team and had only one interception this year. Talents to be mentioned were RB's Greg Conant and Jesse Guerrero who led the backs and had a 147 yard game. Receivers: Mike Lamey and Jay Cano and also Tom Mirl. The Line: Sean O'Malley and Manny Carbahal.

Badminton makes CDS history

Smash - Drop - Kill! These three words motivated this years varsity badminton team to another undefeated season. The teams' goal this year was to improve and be the best they could be as a team and also be regional champions. The girls reached their goal, in every aspect except being state champions. They weren't regional champs, but they improved their skills every day, with long and strenuous practices. "We are in good condition. We do a lot of running, and we believe that when we get down to a split set, we're going to be strong enough to win!" said Coach Davini. This theory was proved correct at the 1986 Badminton Divisionals. Outstanding players, Jenny Rodgers and Susan Donze pulled through several split sets and close games to become the first place doubles team in Tempe and Mesa. These girls went on to state to rank Corona del Sol number six in badminton.

Because of the desire to be victorious and their overwhelming devotion, the 1986 varsity badminton team ended their season with their 27th consecutive win. This triumphant record allows these AZTECS to be the first team in Corona's history to be undefeated after two years.

JV team excels

The JV Badminton team had an outstanding season this year, finishing 10-2. The girls worked hard everyday in practice to improve as individuals and as a team.

According to the coach, this young team shows tremendous potential for the future varsity team. All of the eighteen junior varsity players contributed their talent and skills toward producing a victorious season. "Any coach that tells you he won is wrong, it's the team that wins." stated Coach Davini

Boys golf

The boys golf team came up short by four strokes to achieve their goal and qualify for the state championship this year. Though they had a winning season the players and Coach Armstrong were not satisfied with their efforts because they didn't qualify for the state tournament.

"We were young and inexperienced, but will be better each of the next three years," said Coach Armstrong. Coach Armstrong thought that they were very close to achieving their goal and should have.

Matt Brower, a junior, played good golf all year long, according to Coach Armstrong. He lead the team into the Central Division Tournament and placed 2nd overall.

Coach Armstrong was proud of his players and looks forward to next year.

The girl's golf team came through with an outstanding season and ended with a record of 17-3. Coach Centanni was disappointed because the girls didn't take the state title.

"I thought that the girls could have obtained the state championship but they just didn't work hard enough," said Coach Centanni.

Some of the outstanding players were Robyn McCarty and Patty Lee who were all-state golfers. Asa Orgard, an exchange student, contributed greatly.

He hopes that the girls will work hard over the summer and win the state title next year.

Young team faces difficult season

Varsity Volleyball faced a difficult season. The positive note was that the team consisted of almost all juniors, so everyone will be coming back for next year. "I was very satisfied with my team's effort. Illness is what partially got us this year, the other was we needed seniors to lead us. Our final record was 3-13. This year we were tough, we were never blown out, we just need to build our program. Next year we will be tougher, more experienced and better." says Coach Rosenberg. Best all around player was sophomore Jennifer Helfrich. Most improved player was Katy Sarna

"One of our goals was to build a successful volleyball team through fundamental skills and tactics. The girls demonstrated excellent skills throughout the season to fulfill this goal " said Coach

Cross Country strives toward goals

This years' girls crosscountry team did a "GREAT JOB" according to Coach Ron Hauser. The girls went 9-0 in regular dual meets this year, they were also city and divisional champs. With all these accomplishments under their belts they went into the state meet and took 2nd place.

According to Coach Hauser there was something special about this year. He said that the beauty of the team was that no one ever knew who would place 1-5. All the runners were so talented that all the races would be close against each other. The attitude of all the girls was a very big factor in their winning season. The girls often talked about keeping attitudes high before meets.

Leading the Lady Aztecs this season are four outstanding seniors: Lisa Beltzen (who was a foreign exchange student), Darlene Vega, Anne Badger, and Tami Robinson.

"We were faced with several disappointing situations from the beginning of the season which eliminated several of last years varsity runners. Fortunately we had runners to fill those slots." said Barry Feldman, the boys cross country coach. The boys didn't reach all of their goals this year because of the lack of intensity during the matches, but they put their minds to it and qualified for the state race. Ernie Vega, a sophomore, was consistent in leading the Aztecs all season. Not only was Ernie in large invitational meets, but he was consistently placing in the top 5 in the small dual meets, according to Coach Feldman.

Because there weren't any seniors on the team this year it is expected to be the same squad next year but much stronger

Both boys and girls swimteams reached their goals this year according to their coach, Patti Vogel. The boys were city champions. The girls reached their goal by improving their win-loss record. Coach Vogel was very pleased with this year's team because of the improved personal time of the swimmers. They will work hard until next year and should have a strong returning squad.

The boys team was lead by junior, Carter Corey. Corey set seven new school records this year. He also has been undefeated in dual meets for the last three years. Later was the central divisions and state champions in the hundred yard backstroke and two hundred yard freestyle. This was the fastest hundred freestyle time swam for high school reported this year. This qualified him for a five time All American.

Amie Michal led the girls team. She was ninth in state in the five hundred yard freestyle for the girls. Her dedication and leadership were instrumental in motivation for the team's success.

Aztecs win EVL crown, take second in state

"This year's varsity basketball team played to its potential all year," stated head coach Sam Duane. Before the season started people picked the Aztecs to finish in the bottom of their division.

At the end of the season the Aztecs were ranked fourth going into the divisional tournament. Playing five overtimes in four days the Aztecs beat Mesa High to win Corona's first EVL Championship, which put the Aztecs in the state tournament. There they defeated Moon Valley and St. Mary's convincingly before advancing to the 71st Annual Championship game. Corona lost to South Mountain but gained respect from fans around the state.

The signs of a winning season came early when they defeated Chapparral, then ranked number one, and went on to be ranked within the top ten in the state throughout the season.

The Aztecs also pulled out a tournament win in Flagstaff over the Christmas holiday. In this respect the team had gone beyond all its preseason goals.

The successful season ended with a 22-8 record. According to Coach Duane the key to the season was "to play smart and work hard and things will happen."

JV basketball strives to be the best they can possibly be.

This year the JV basketball team worked hard. According to Coach Krznarich, "The team record may not reflect their efforts, but this was a dedicated, hard working group of individuals." While working hard every time on the court, the JV team strived to be the best they could possibly be on and off the court, and represent Corona del Sol to the best of their ability. "There were", said Coach

Krznarich "no stand out players on the team, all the members of the team improved throughout the season and with individual improvement, comes team improvement."

Over the course of the season the movie "Hoosiers" served as a motivator for the coach and the team. Coach Krznarich believes if an individual is dedicated to a purpose, there are no limits in what they can do.

Freshman learn the fundamentals

Good attitude and the desire to succeed are what helped this year's freshman basketball team accomplish their goals, according to Coach Gilbert. Each player had set their own goals throughout the season and worked to their own potential in every practice and every game to reach their self-set goals, states Coach Gilbert. Coach Gilbert hopes to see his players work on their weaknesses and play a lot of basketball on the JV level next year.

Doug Harris was a standout all season according to Coach Gilbert. "He is an excellent all around player, and most important, is the fact that he's unselfish." Harris also led the freshman Aztecs in scoring. Chris Rohrer banged the board for the Aztecs as he led them in rebounds and Ron McCook had the top attitude and was a fine player according to Coach Gilbert.

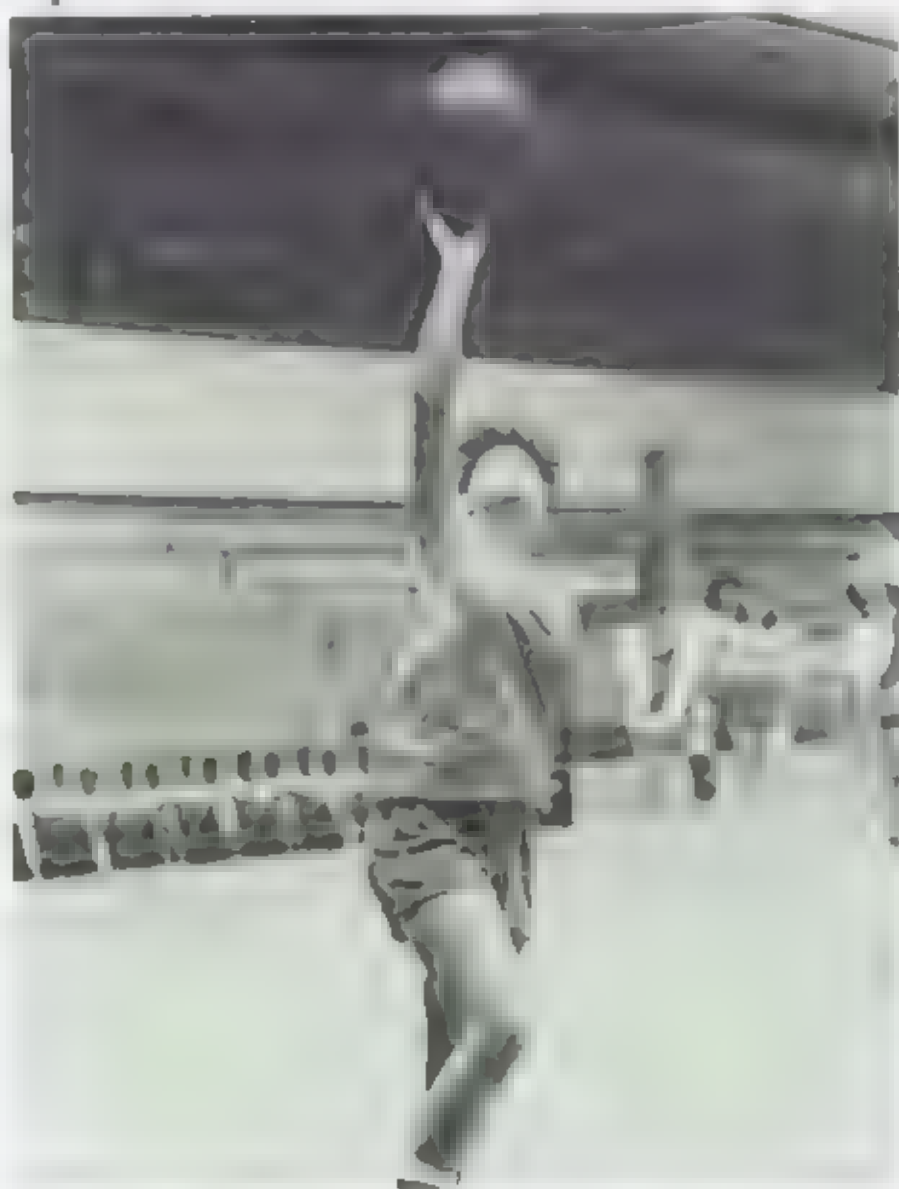

Coach Gilbert recognized some players as hard workers and players that showed a love for the game. Those players were Travis Jacobsson, Jay Cano, Leon Amaro, Dylan James, Dan Slater, Sean O'Malley, Jeff Terry, Brad Stratton, Jason Walters, Russ Henning, Jeff Lutes and Glenn Ostland

Varsity girls b-ball team works hard to achieve season goals

During the 1987 season the varsity girls basketball team worked hard everyday in practice to achieve their goals on and off the court. Some of their goals were to make the state tournament, which to do that they would have had to finish in the top three in their division. Over the past 10 years at Corona, the girls have made it five times into the state tournament. This was another hopeful year.

Coach Larry Hughes often stressed the importance of defense throughout the season. According to Coach Hughes, "To win a lot of games they had to play good defense". All of the girls worked hard, but according to Hughes there were some stand-out players. They were Tessa Logan, who was a senior and a four year starter. Also, Tricia Philips and Brenda McClenden were seniors that had started for two years. Additional help was given by junior Erika Malone and sophomore Jennifer Helfrich.

This defense oriented girls basketball team consisted of six seniors, three juniors and two sophomores. These 11 girls bounced through with an outstanding season.

JV b-ball prepares for varsity level

"If the girls work hard they can accomplish anything they want", stated Coach Adolph, coach of the JV girls basketball team. According to Coach Adolph the girls often worked hard to accomplish their goals. Their goals were to learn the basic basketball skills better, to prepare for the varsity level and to have a winning season. Coach Adolph often stressed defense throughout the season to his JV team which consisted of 11 sophomores and two juniors. According to Coach Adolph it has been a tradition at CdS for the girls basketball teams to out hustle the opponent. This hard working group of girls kept the spirit alive with bruised knees and all.

A couple of girl's talents shined throughout the season. They were Laura Southern who was the team's best rebounder and floor leader and Amy Caldwell demonstrated her shooting and ball handling skills

Freshman girls — develop new skills

Having fun was the main objective of the girls freshman basketball team. According to Coach Armstrong the freshman team mainly just learned how to become competitive, develop skills and to work hard for the varsity level. "Most freshman girls are timid, but these girls aren't, they are aggressive", stated Coach

Armstrong. These "aggressive" girls seemed like they liked to play the game because they worked hard in every game and practice.

Some of the freshman girls basketball players that were stand-out players were Felicia Ramirez, Amy Rudibaugh, and Brooke Kenyon.

Seniors dominate

The year looked great for the Aztec wrestling program. This year there were nine seniors on the line up, the most ever. The main goal this year for coach Vibber and the wrestlers was to qualify six wrestlers to the state tournament, bring home the first trophy, and have a winning dual meet record. The teams main motivation was the team's leadership from the seniors. They kept wrestling going strong by sticking only to wrestling, summer camps, and off-season weight training. "The wrestling program, in general, is right on the edge of turning the corner towards consistency, but we've got to want it a lot more," said coach Vibber.

One wrestler whose improvement, talent and dedication stood out was senior wrestler John Richtelli. He led the team through dual meets and placed high in major invitationals.

- Hard work pays off -

The main goals for Coach Denton and the J.V. wrestling program were to have the best J.V. wrestling program ever and to have the best record for J.V. wrestling. As for the first goal it looked very good. Coach Denton's said, "I am very satisfied with the program of this team. I feel that the wrestling future of this team is very bright".

The second goal of the best record looked promising. There were six players from the J.V. team whose improvement, talent and dedication stood out. These individuals were Mike Hestrin, John Hamann, Mark Figueroa, Brian Choate, Shawn Springsteen and Dan Hachler. The team lived up to the saying hard work pays off!

First experience

The main goals for the freshman wrestling team were to build team confidence and promote a spirit of competition. The start for the team was a reasonable one because many of the athletes were having their first experience with wrestling competition. "There is a day by day improvement. I would hope for continued improvement and commitment to the sport". said Coach Doyle.

Hard working varsity softball team has 9-11 record

This year's varsity softball season was highlighted with good spirit and hustle. Even though the girls didn't meet all their goals they put forth a good effort according to head coach Vern Leuck.

Throughout the season there were some standout players who deserve credit

They were Lori Weimer, Lisa Gump, Jenny Latin, and Cathy Ciura.

After working hard through the good and the bad times during the season the lady Aztecs finished with a season record of 9 wins and 11 losses.

JV softball has outstanding season record of 12-4

The 86-87 softball season was a good one indeed for the JV softball of Corona del Sol. The girls worked hard to reach their expectations. The compiled record of 12-4 was good. At the beginning of the season the team set goals that were later accomplished. They were to produce good, potential varsity players and to improve the skill level of several individuals.

According to Coach Centanni, the girls put forth a good effort the whole season. He hopes that the girls will continue to work hard and that they will become good varsity players in the future.

"Our major objective on the JV level is to try to make the girls into better players and to make them into good varsity material. I think 10 or 11 of the girls will be good varsity players," stated Coach Centanni.

Freshman softball have best record ever at CdS.

To become fundamentally sound and to improve each and every week. This was the goal set by the freshman softball at the beginning of the season. The girls accomplished this goal and many more. The season finished with a 12-3 record for the freshman Aztecs. This was the best freshman softball record ever in the history of Corona del Sol. Also, according to coach Davini the girls did a lot of things fundamentally right throughout the season. By being such a standout team, there were no standout players. Instead, the whole team played very good defense and worked as a team in general said coach Davini. Coach Davini is proud of the team and hopes to see them play JV next year.

Kicking into state soccer ranks 3rd

The CdS varsity soccer team ended the year with the best record ever in the school according to Coach Fran Bader. The varsity soccer team advanced as far as the state semi-finals, and ended the season with a 12-2-2 record.

The soccer team owes its success to a variety of factors, but Bader feels the most important is a "solid all around good effort and a good attitude." The soccer team received strong play from the whole team. Tony Cota broke the school record of most goals scored in a season. The defense gave up an average of only one goal per game.

The JV team wasn't to be left out, with what Coach Matt Leuck said was "a good season, especially the end, the players were really motivated."

The two soccer teams finished the year ranked 3rd in state and they can only hope this is the start of a winning tradition.

Day by day, Week by week.

This year's varsity baseball teams goals were to improve both individually and work well as a team. They hoped to do this day by day and week by week, and hoped their strong points were being strong defensively and having experience back at key positions. "We should be in the pack for making the regional tournament. We should be one of the top two-three team in our region. Some of our team leaders were Rudy Gomez, Chris Elder, Mike Reeves and Ryan Bradley. I am expecting big things out of our seniors, but especially from Rudy Gomez and Chris Elder," said Coach Davini.

The JV baseball team was in good swing, as they just came from a great season as freshman, with an 11-4-1 record. Coach Centanni's main goals were to have a winning season, prepare his team for varsity and win all conference games. "We are strong in every position, we have good hitters and great depth. The team was great and works well together," said Centanni. On the freshman level there has never been a losing season. The spirit was high. "We have good batters, that know their baseball. They play with a solid defense, make no errors and play to their potential."

Varsity tennis teams excel with talent

Hoping to take state this year was the goal for this years girls tennis teams. This team took first place in the AAA championship last year and expected to go undefeated this season. Striving for the state championship was sophomore Luann Klimchock who took the state championship as a freshman last year and was ranked among the top tennis players in the nation. Luann and six others returned from last years squad.

The requirements to make the team were to be one of the top 16 girls trying out for the team. The top eight are chosen by team challenges and they played on the varsity level while the others played on the JV level

The team was managed by Cheryl Waterkoe, Jenny MacDonald, and Julie Krahenbuhl. Coach Espinoza enjoyed working with the young athletes and helping them develop their abilities to their potential throughout the year.

"Go out and do the best you can possibly do", what Coach Cox often said to his boys varsity tennis team. Throughout the season the boys were realistic about setting their goals. At the beginning of the season they set to have at least a 500 season average to do the best they could do in each match

The team was led by number one seeded Steve Walker, who was a senior and number two seeded Jerry Cape who was also a senior who transferred from Oregon. The team was fairly young with two seniors, three juniors, three sophomores and one freshman.

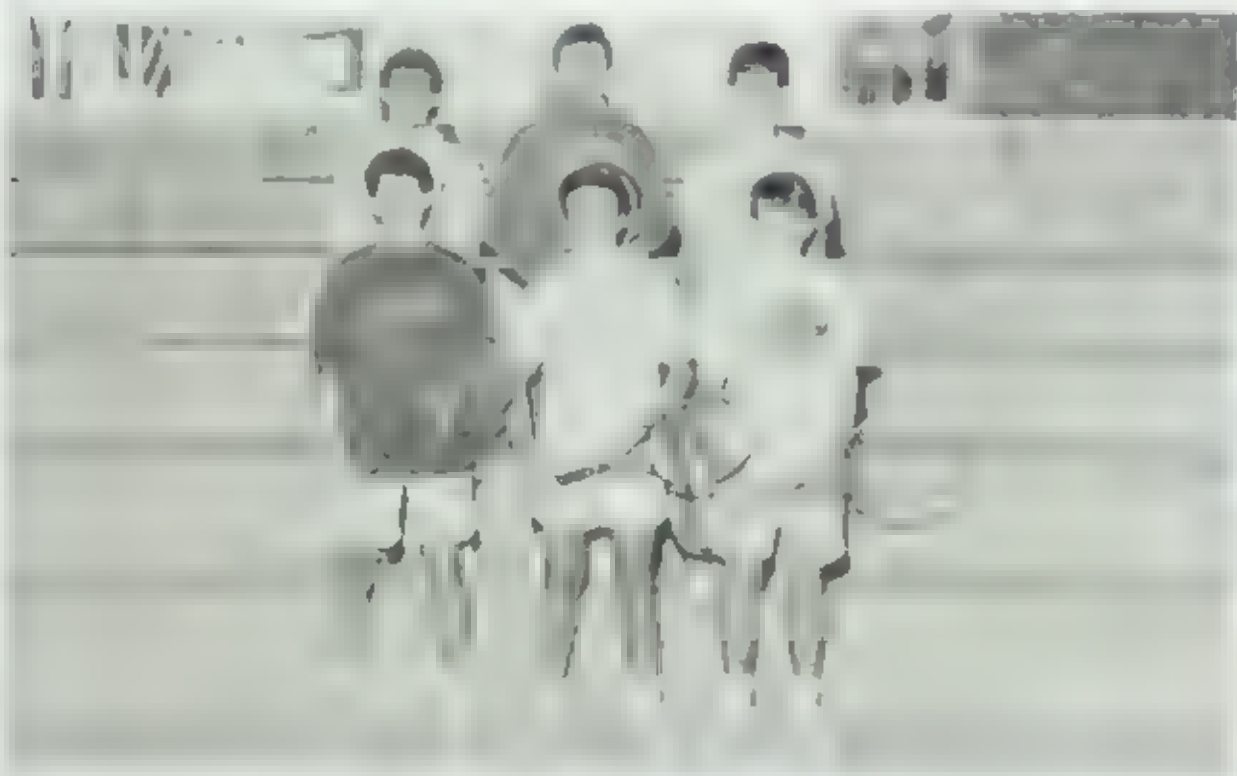

Although the season was difficult the boys hung tough throughout.

Excellent Freshman Tennis

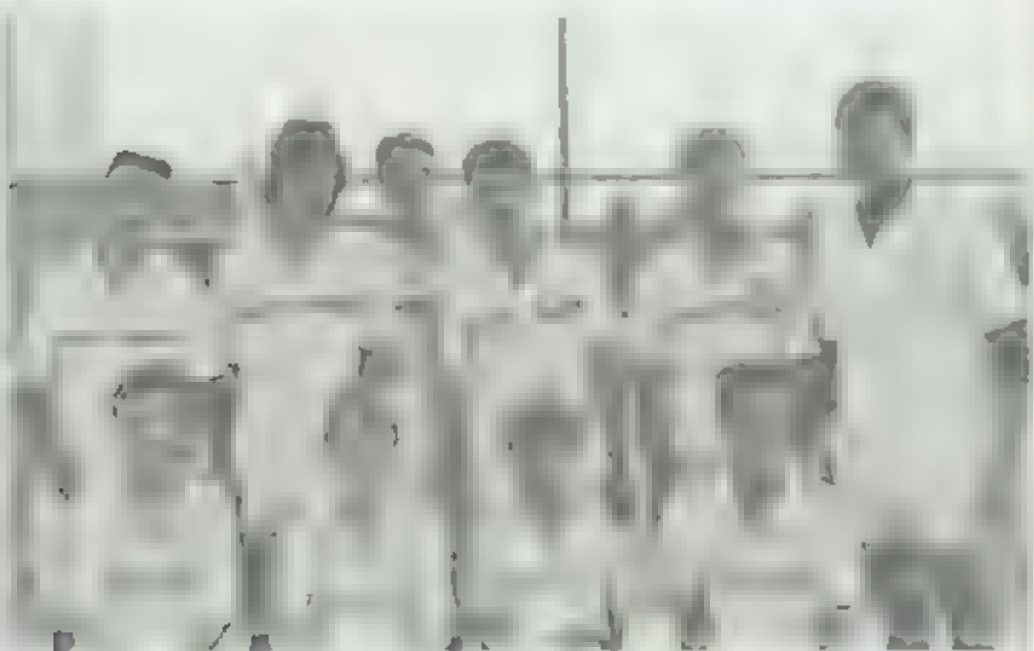

The boys freshman tennis team served themselves into a winning season this year with a record of 9-2. At the start of the season Coach Cox wanted to have at least a 500 season, and see individual growth in the players. By the end of the season he had well over a 500 season and saw tremendous amount of improvement throughout the freshman squad. Both number one ranked Jeff Jennings and number two ranked Jason Sergal had identical records of 7-5 and they both had to play their best each match. The best records however were Jeff Grow and Jeff Terry at 11-1. Coach Cox hopes to see the freshman return to play JV and varsity tennis next year.

The girls also had an outstanding season. This was the first year that Corona's freshman tennis team obtained the city champions. To become city champions they had to beat Tempe, McClintock, and Marcos. According to Coach Espinoza the most outstanding players were #1 Cara Ney and #2 Ericka Cooke Track & field, very young.

It's that time again, when the track & field team puts their best out. For Coach Vibber his main goal was to be competitive in the Central Division and also win Corona's first Tempe City Championship. "We were always strong on relays. The team lost a lot of seniors to graduation last year, but hopes to fill those spots in". quotes Vibber. There were several letterman returning, but to be a leader one needs to be consistent.

The girls were very young. They worked hard, and the main goal was to have the attitude needed to win. They were strong in the quarter mile, 4x100 relay and distance. The leaders were Dawn Parrish, Chris Tuvell, Darlene Vega and Rebecca Page. The girls were strong and proved to be competitive.

CLUBS!

Check it out
In the ten years at Corona del
Sol, High School organizations have played a big part in a student's involvement. Starting out with only nine clubs in 1977, Corona now has 37 clubs with many active and enthusiastic members

Clubs are formed to support a common interest among students and they have proven to be a great way to become involved in school activities. From the pommies and cheer- as well as all the aids and stats who support the CdS athletes, Student council which sponsors worthy causes, SADD which helps make students aware of drinking and driving hazards, and DECA whose members are involved in marketing, Corona del Sol offers a wide variety of organizations to satisfy anyones interests

The CdS clubs are kept busy year round raising money, promoting school spirit and activities, and sponsoring different events of their own.
From school dances, candy sales, food drives, tee shirt sales, clinics, bake sales, car washes, and holiday events, the outstanding club members work together to make their clubs stand out and help Corona work effectively.

Looking at our organizations now we notice a few changes, such as the number of members and the opportunities available for the organizations, because of the increasing growth in our school. Clubs concerns and goals have not changed that much in ten years but the added influence of CdS
students allows for achievements within the clubs

Council represents Corona

Student government has grown over the ten years it has existed at Corona. Mr. Campbell has been the sponsor of the club for nine outstanding years. Student council has grown abundantly because of his tremendous effort toward the club.

Student Council sponsored most of the student activities. They also had many fundraisers, which included the hush-a-thon which made a lot of money for United Way, a dance, and they also managed to do the basketball concession stands. All of the money that came from fundraising went toward giving scholarships and spirit raising activities.

There are many reasons for becoming a member of Student Council. Some of these reasons include; "Because I wanted to be a part of the council and was elected student body president." said Rick Parry. "I am very interested in student government and I believe I have good ideas concerning it. This seemed to be the best way to get those ideas heard." said Brian Austin. "Because this club helps the whole school. It has more unity than other clubs." said Lisa Magliola.

This years student body officers were: Rick Parry, president; Brian Austin, vice president; Cindy Cooper, secretary; Jeff Geyser, publicity director; John Slater, business manager; Lisa Magliola, spirit director. Student council members must achieve good grades and they also participate in many other activities. At the end of last year, candidates devoted much time to their campaigns, and the winners proved their abilities as shown by Corona del Sol's outstanding success during the 1986-87 school year.

"I was so jacked-up about this 1986-87 school year. We had an awesome year! Student Council was so 'up' on everything-we represented the school well and planned many fun activities." said Sr. President, Spike Lawrence. "I was so proud to be a part of Corona's Student Council this year. The sponsors and other officers were great to work with!" said Katie Dougherty, Sr. Girl's Rep.

A contract for life

The summer of 1985, Kristi Bingham and some friends got together and had several car washes to raise money to start a club here at Corona

The reason they did this was because a very close friend of theirs was killed by a drunk driver Bingham became concerned and wanted to do something about it This is how S.A.D.D., Students Against Driving Drunk, formed

"We just want to make students aware of the consequences of drinking and driving. We are not saying don't drink, we are just saying don't drink and drive," said Kristi Bingham, President of S.A.D.D. for the past two years

S.A.D.D. has become one of the most populated clubs here at Corona. Three hundred students signed up on club day and approximately 150 students show up at some meetings. M.A.D.D., Mothers Against Driving Drunk, said Corona del Sol was one of the best S.A.D.D. chapters in the country

S.A.D.D. had car washes to try and raise money to put up a billboard on the freeway about driving drunk

S.A.D.D. members talked at many different types of banquets, such as S.A.D.D. day at A.S.U. This was where S.A.D.D. chapters from all over the valley got together and gave lectures to people on how to start a S.A.D.D. chapter They also had two assemblies for the students at Corona

"Our S.A.D.D. club is the best I am very proud of their sincerity and contributions to Corona," said Julie Boles, sponsor of S.A.D.D

Clubs help with jobs

DECA stands out for raising future leaders in business and marketing management. This year they had many fundraisers so they could attend DECA conferences and have various DECA social activities. Some of these were poster/calendar sales, candy sales, and also a car wash. This club started in 1978. The president of DECA this year was Doug Woodmansee, and the sponsor, were Marge Metcalf and Joseph Krznarich

COE is a club where students can learn business traits and good attitudes on job exposure. These students go to school half of the day and the other half they work at an office job. These students have to be interviewed by the sponsor, Barbara Shultz, and then be selected

Some fund raisers this year were candy sales, a booth at the homecoming carnival and they sold gifts from a catalogue. They used the money they earned for various activities and a banquet at the end of the year.

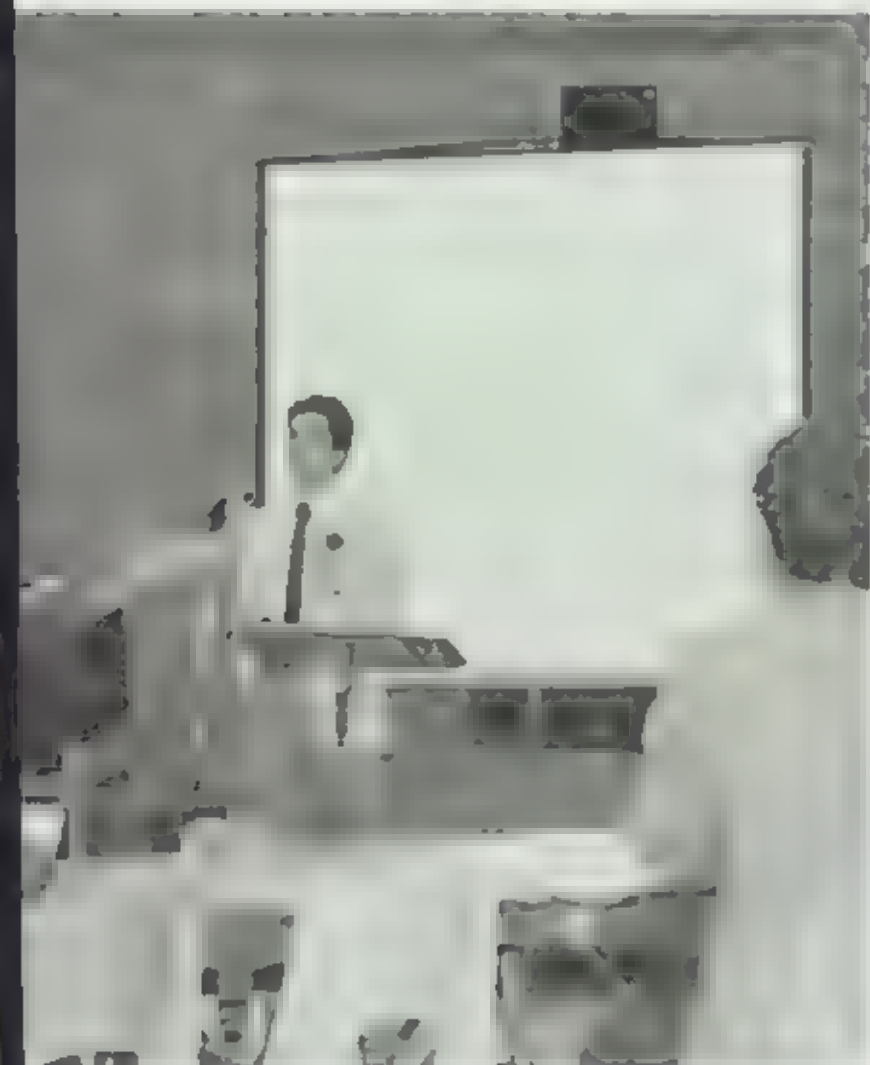

HERO is short for Home Economic Related Occupations. It is a club that introduced students to the working world and economics. The club was started last year and was taught and sponsored by Barbara Smith. They met everyday for instruction and had meetings on Fridays, 3rd hour. HERO had different kinds of fundraisers. Some were candy sales and gift sales. The money they earned was given to different charities throughout the year. Money was also spent for HERO activities and the biggie- the employers banquet at the end of the year. The banquet was to show the members appreciation for their employers. HERO is a special club because the members are so close knit. "HERO is fun and exciting" says Tina Riccobono.

Humanities gave students a chance to give community service. Humanities can be taken as a class and is a senior English credit.

Mrs. Kamm was the sponsor of Humanities. They was not a president so they all worked together to help the community.

Some of the fundraisers they had were: candy sales, they also received a grant from the bank for winning an award. The grant was for $10,000 dollars.

They participated with Gila Indian River High School

They went to many different places to study about foreign countries. They went to a french restaurant and a french play to learn about french culture.

"This club is one of my favorite clubs to participate with. I really enjoy working with the teacher and the other people in the class... said Joanna Awerkamp.

Humanities was the biggest club on campus. "There is a lot of cooperation so it is easier to get things done and learn more," said Michelle Cortese.

Close-up was designed to educate students about the government. They went to Washington D. C. for a week and got to see what the government does "close up." The sponsor of Close-up was Mr. Peralta.

Clubs travel and learn

The Corona Cultural Exchange Club was a new club to the Corona campus this year. The nature of Corona Cultural Exchange is to familiarize students with different people and cultures. The sponsor of Corona Cultural Exchange was Mrs McCray and the president was Amy Hawkins.

The major fund-raiser of the club was a cake walk booth at the homecoming carnival which was very successful. The money collected from the fund-raiser went towards sending members to the LIFT conference in Prescott and different projects for the school and community.

The main activities of Corona Cultural Exchange were group dinners and having parties whose main objective was to celebrate foreign holidays.

Anytown, it's a club dedicated to helping students understand about other cultures, religions and other races.

Anytown is a world wide organization and the Anytown club at CdS is just a very small part of it. "Anytown is no ordinary educational club. The main objective of Anytown is to promote a better understanding of oneself to build up self esteem," said Mrs. de la Garza.

According to the Anytown worldwide guide, "members attempt to build a very unique world. A place where each member in the community is a human being first and an important person is own right."

Anytown also made a continuation of their club into the summer when they sent members to "Anytown Camp". At the Anytown camp, members learn about different cultures, building self-esteem, learn about themselves and learn how to become leaders in their community.

The sponsor of Anytown was Grace de la Garza and the president was Wayne Weaver.

Anytown's main fund-raisers were an Indian fried bread sale, burrito sale and a doughnut sale. The money collected from the fund-raisers went to sending delegates to Anytown Camp for a week during the summer and a youth conference.

The main activities of Anytown were an annual pot luck, school carnival, and a city Halloween carnival.

BSA and MECHA grow in '87

The Black Students Alliance - (BSA) enabled students to get involved in their school, community and culture. BSA was first started back in 1978 with little involvement, but every year is more successful than the last. This year's BSA sponsor was Mrs. Felice Parham. The president of BSA was Natalie Hester

BSA's major fundraisers were bake sales, car washes, candy apple sales and participation in a booth at the school carnival. The money collected from the fundraisers went toward donations, scholarships and sponsorship of the club. This year BSA also had a "CAREER DAY", and a "BSA Talent Show."

The Black Student Alliance stands out for "the Cohesiveness of the members ambition to serve others," said Mrs. Parham. BSA is known for the community services and the helping of the unfortunate

MECHA is a hispanic organization that provides students with many opportunities. Being both career, and educational. This year MECHA had many members.

Some of the main activities of the club included hosting the Black Student Alliance Career Day, Cinco De Mayo Festivities, and a trip during spring break. The major fundraisers of the club included food sales, car washes, candy sales, and reindeer grams. MECHA used the money they collected from the fundraisers for educational trips, social gatherings with other school clubs, and scholarships for graduating club members. This year's sponsors were Mr. Gonzalez and Mr. Peralta. The president was Jeanette Barela

Yearbook celebrates CdS decade

The yearbook staff was a small group this year, consisting of only fifteen members. They were extremely hard workers. Making deadlines on time was tough, but the CdS yearbook staff worked during their class and free time to get the job done.

This years' editors were Anne Matthias and Kelly Heffernan. The yearbook sponsor was Mrs. DiCesare.

The yearbook staff attended a convention in Portland, Oregon in early April. During the convention the yearbook staff competed in contests, learned about improving the yearbook, and interacted with professionals in the journalism field.

Besides selling the yearbooks all year long, some major fundraisers included the collecting of senior ads, and faculty coke machines. All the money earned from the fundraisers went towards the cost of producing an excellent yearbook.

This year the beginning yearbook class was separate from advanced yearbook. In beginning yearbook the students worked on producing the underclass section of the yearbook and helped the advanced class meet their deadlines. They were a great asset to the annual staff.

Extra! Extra! Read all about it! This year's Sunrise Staff has grown rapidly. The club met everyday 4th hour.

Mary Gorman was the sponsor. She and Brian Burnett, the editor, had to edit everything that went into the paper. It costs about 500 dollars to publish each issue. "This club is special because it represents all of Corona and the club's work is published for the whole school to see." said Mary Gorman, sponsor.

Students signed up for this club for many different reasons. From getting extra credit to going into tele-communications. "One of my favorite things about being in the class was having authority over the beginning students so that we could shape them up. And seeing my stories in the paper." said Pieter Dijkstra.

The club especially looked forward to seeing the senior issue and the convention in Oregon. This club stood out for the changing the attitude of the students and faculty about the quality of the paper.

Staffers worked extremely hard to meet deadlines and produce the best paper possible. Some of the most memorable experiences that they've had were: "My first football article." said Brian Flemming. "My first front page story," said Brian Burnett. "The first story I had ever published, first year as an advanced student, and the journalism convention in Seattle." said Pieter Dijkstra.

"Unlike the rest of the journalism students I get to do the advertisements and I also enjoy writing movie reviews and other stories for the paper. Mrs. Gorman is a great teacher and my classmates are a lot of fun to work with. With the cooperation of the class I feel we put out the best paper in the valley." Steve Cooke.

Flag pride shows

During a home football game, band leader Darla Miller proudly leads the 1986-87 Corona del Sol band members across the field for half-time entertainment. Miller has been a devoted member of the CdS Band for four years and she has led the varsity group. Her contributions have helped make the band a success.

Flag line members, Michelle Gray, Wendie Wolfe, and Andrea Meidt, display the overwhelming closeness that both the flag and band members shared this year. The girls on the flag line worked extremely hard all year they could be seen practicing every morning with the band to be ready to put on a good show.

One of Corona's devoted tuba players attentively follows the music and listens to the rest of the band so he will be ready when his cue comes. The entertainment band provided was a major part of all football and basketball games.

Senior band member, Brian Flemming, uses all of his mighty strength and power as he blows his heart out. The band members "put their hearts into everything they did this year so they could produce the best sound and play great songs at all school functions."

Band ranked superior

The Aztec band is a group of hard-working individuals who work together as a unit when they play, and are highly competitive. The Aztec band stands out as a group of people who have a lot of school pride in what they're doing and love it!

The band's sponsor is Mr. William Richardson, and the president is Shannon Reineccius.

Some of the band's fundraisers this year included many car washes, paper drives, candy sales, and cheese and sausage sales. The money the band earned from these fundraisers went toward equipment needed for the band, going on tour to California, Band Day Festivals, and Band Camp.

The band performed many times throughout the school year. They provided excellent entertainment at the sports functions.

The Aztec band held many concerts

this year. There was a Christmas concert, a concert with the Dobson band, a Tempe bands concert, and a pop concert at the end of the school year.

The band was in the Veteran's Day Parade, and the Marcos de Niza Invitational. Some of their major activities were UofA and ASU Band Days, and the State Marching Band Festival. These were great accomplishments for the band because they received a "1" (which is superior) in every major activity.

The J.V. band was a new part of the band that enabled students a year to get ready for varsity band.

Over the years the Aztec band has accomplished many things. Working hard every morning took a lot of determination and motivation. The hard practicing showed through at all performances throughout the year, and made the Aztec band shine.

Joe Torres, a proud and devoted Corona Sol tuba player, fully concentrates on notes in order to play accurately, and precisely to keep up with the other players on their instruments.

Choir performs to strive for the best

"Students must be highly involved and committed to doing a superior job at rehearsal and at concerts," said Cheri Mabbitt, choir instructor for the past ten years.

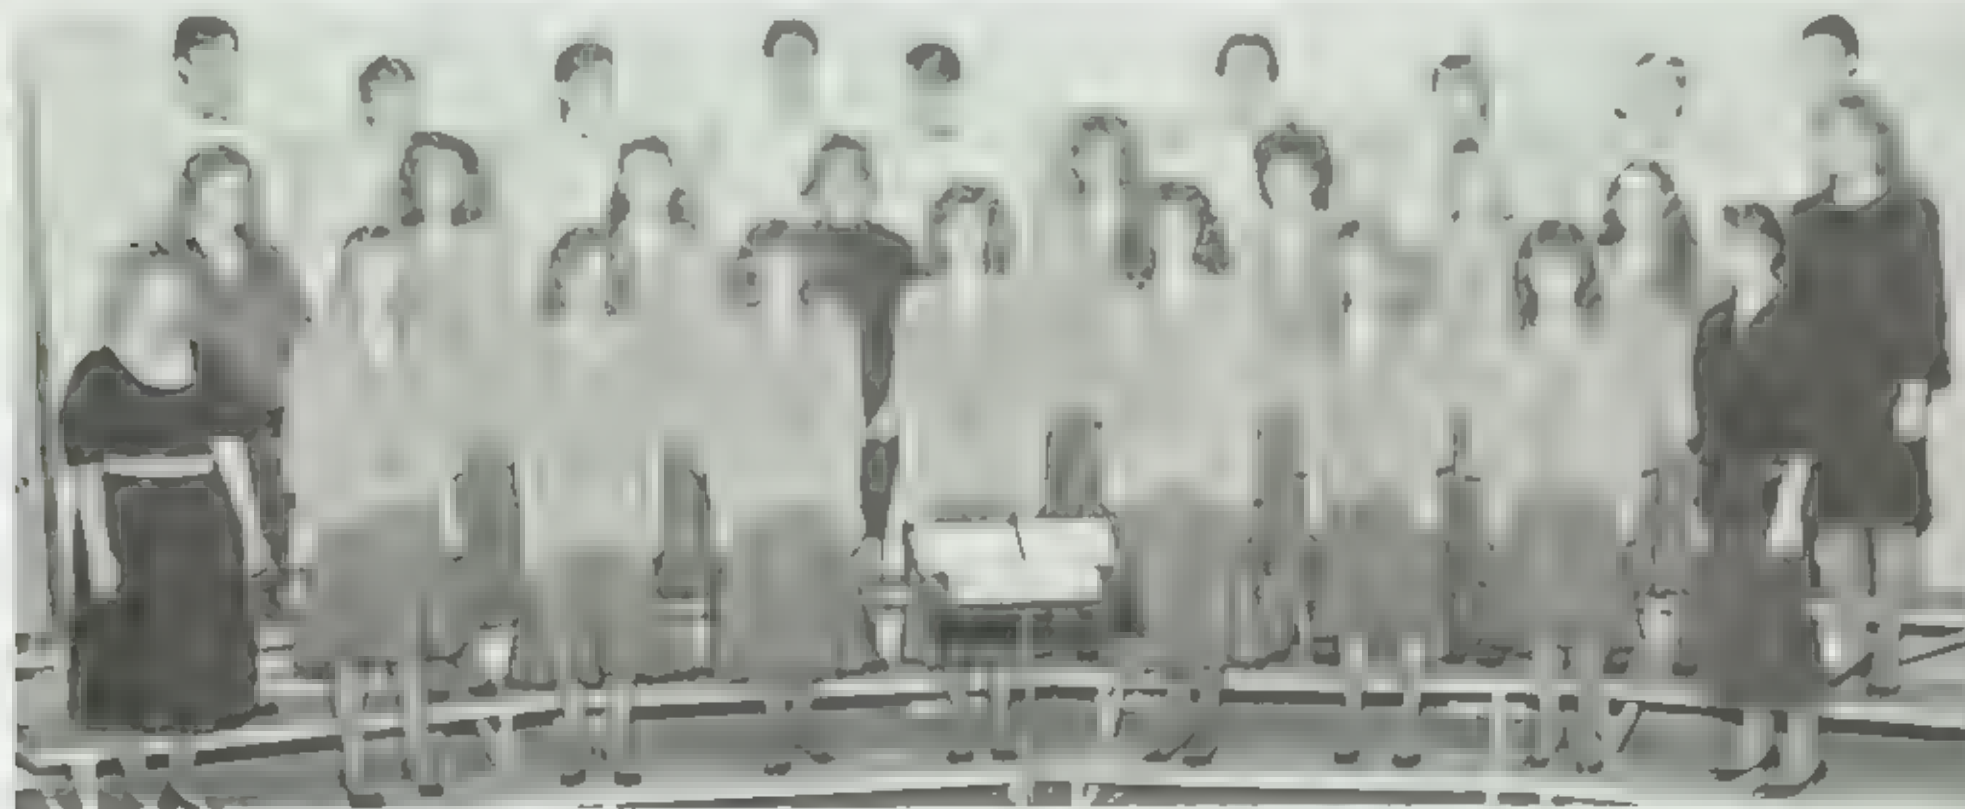

This year the choir members competed in the Solo and Ensemble Festival. This was where students performed music selections for judges to be chosen for Regional Choir, they also competed in the State Large Group Festival.

Choir raised their money this year by having a cheese and sausage sale and by selling holiday gifts. This money also went to the Accapella Choir for their tour to California.

The choir officers were; President Sonja Cole, Vice President Julie Jacobson, and Treasurer Ken Oplinger.

There are two different types of choirs. Chorale which is a beginning choir and is open to anyone who wishes to join. Then there is Accapella which you must try out for. This group performed several different concerts and toured to California

CdS pom line Radiates their spirit

The Corona del Sol pom line practiced every morning from 6:00am to 7:15am. "Their speciality was raising the spirit of CdS students and faculty by dancing, the girls spent many hours perfecting dance routines for the enjoyment of the Corona population," said Mrs. Centanni, the pom sponsor. The pommies performed during halftime at the football and basketball games and at spirit assemblies.

The pom line held two very successful clinics for Pop-Warner and junior high pom squads in order to raise money. They sold balloons at the Homecoming carnival, and hosted pom Follies this year which always proves to be lucrative. The fundraisers went toward pom camp held during the summer.

"I tried out for pom so I could become more involved in school activities," said Stacy Combs. She feels that being involved in school is a very important part of one's high school years.

Some of the favorites of the pom line members were creating spirit, and dancing at games. Melinda Southern said, "My favorite thing about being on pom was being able to put a dance together and having it turn out great! It was hard to do, but very rewarding."

The executive council in charge of this year's pom line were: Anne Matthias, Julie McCook, Melinda Southern, and Kelly Torok.

Spirited cheer squad supports CdS

Spreading spirit and pride to CdS students and teams was what the cheer squads were dedicated to this year.

Missy Keller said, "I tried out for cheer to have the opportunity to meet new people, have fun, and to get involved with the school."

Cheer held many fundraisers this year such as, selling Corona Aztec T-shirts, spirit buttons, candy, Christmas stockings, and heart-o-grams. They used their funds to send cheerleaders to the cheerleading

Brian Austin said his most memorable experience on cheer was, "Doing the splits for the first time at a basketball game."

Kim Giese said, "I want cheer to stand out for spirit and good representation of the school."

camp during the summer. They also bought paper and paint for signs to decorate before games and at the pep rallies.

Brian Austin said he tried out for cheer to set a new tradition, having guys on the squad, and that he did! Kim Giese said she tried out because, "I wanted to support the athletes and because I enjoy it."

This year's mascots were Greg Abbott and Kim Horblit. They danced around adding spirit to the people in the stands at football games, basketball games and at pep rallies.

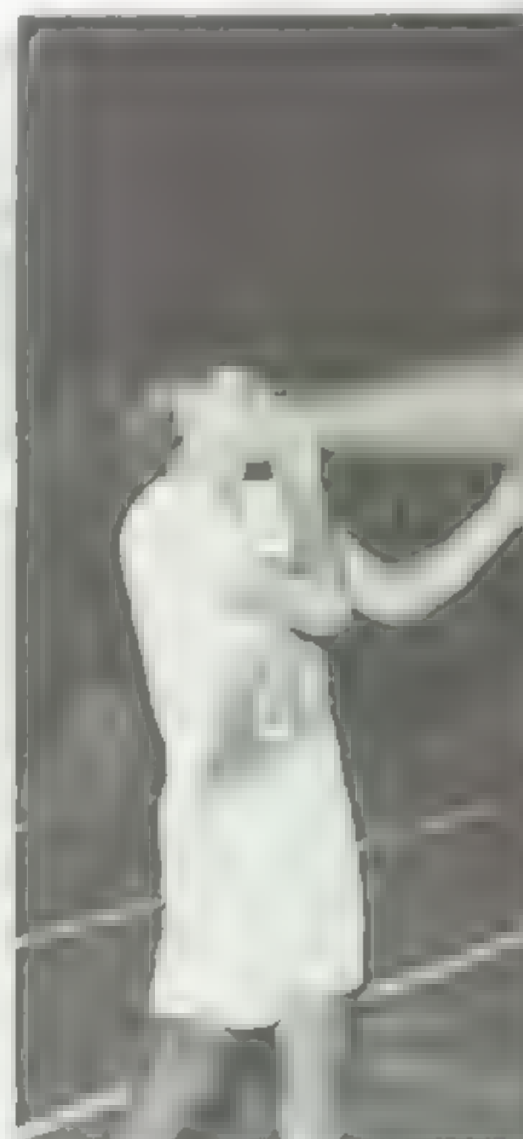

The captains for cheer were: Kim Giese and Carolyn Wood for Varsity Cheer, Michelle Collins for JV Cheer, and Amy Breunig for Freshman Cheer. All squads sponsored by Konnie Young.

Dancers show talent

Modern dance is a class that lets students express their creativity and show their talent. Miss Espinoza has been the sponsor of the modern dance club since 1983. The president of dance was William Harris. This years fund-raisers included candy and cookie sales, and the money that was raised was used for new dance costumes.

One of the highlights of the year was giving an annual dance performance in May. Members join for numerous reasons including, "I was very interested in dance and I thought it would be exciting," said Jennifer Towt. "It would be fun and because I love to dance," said Gina Espinoza. Both of them have been in dance for two years.

"The thing I like most about the club is dancing and the fund-raisers," said Wendi Tillman. Many of the members commented that the spring dance was the most memorable for them.

I'd Rather be Skiing!

Ski club was one of the largest clubs at Corona and amongst the most exciting. It was organized the first year Corona opened. Ski club offered its members many skiing opportunities throughout the ski season, at a reasonable price for Corona students. The ski club travelled to many different ski resorts throughout the winter. For instance; Snowbird, Park City, Alta in Utah, along with Mammoth Mountain in California. These are some of the longer trips that took place. During the year there were less expensive one day trips to Sunrise and Snowbowl in Arizona, which were scheduled according to snow conditions and skier participation. Ski club had fundraisers to help their members earn money for ski trips. By selling candy, the profit made went into their individual accounts, and was used to purchase video tapes to watch during meetings for fun and instructional

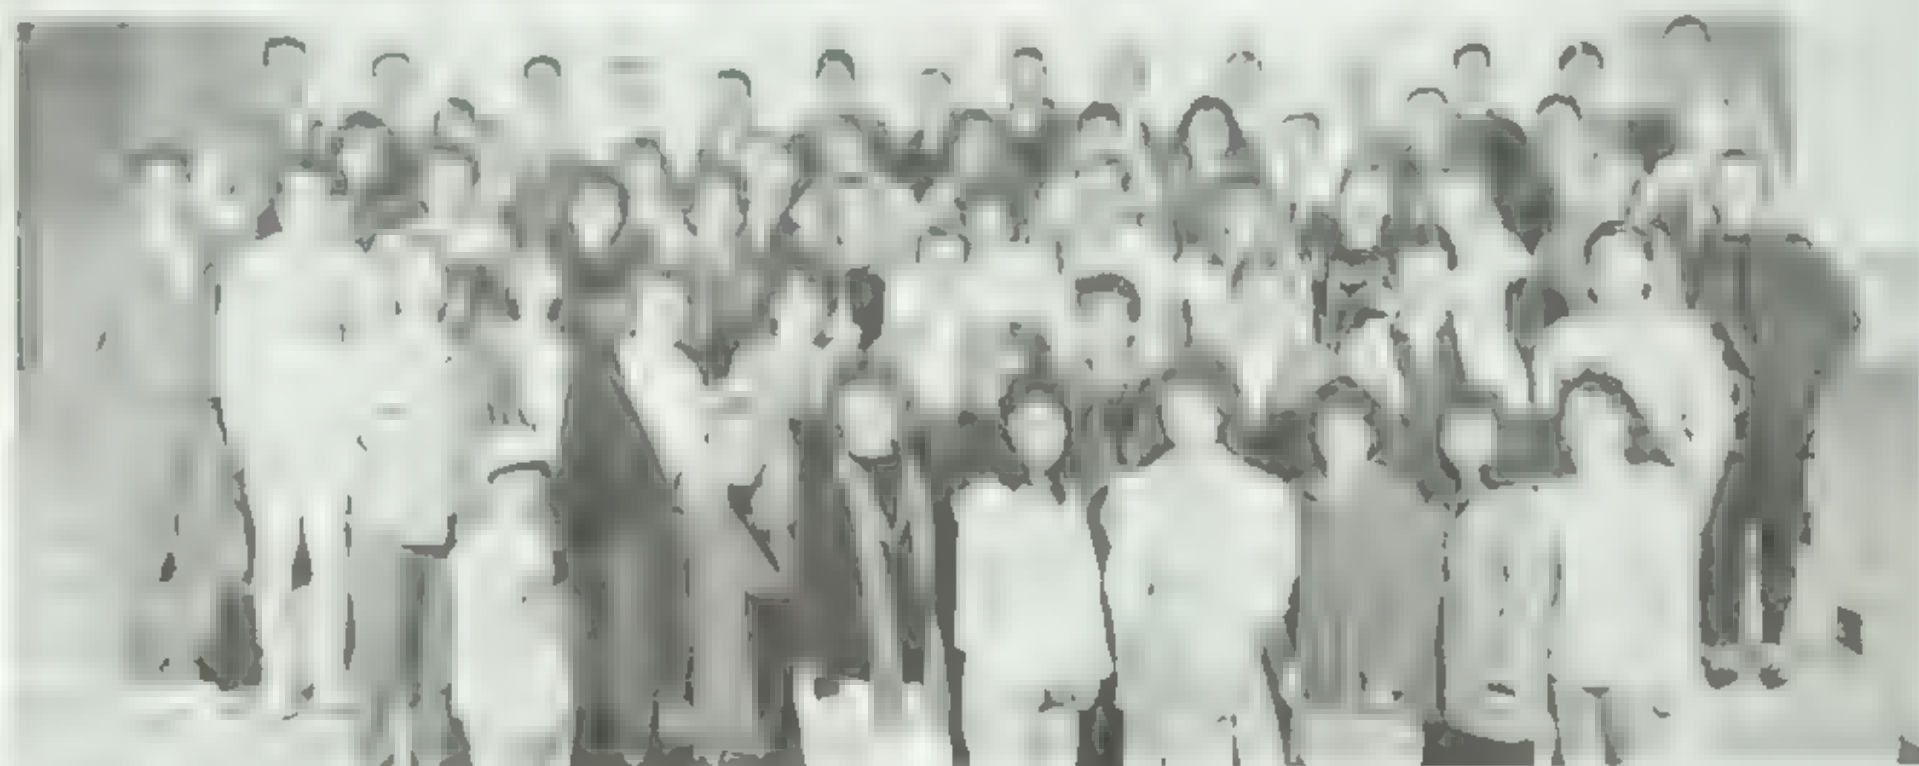

The majority of the ski club members take time away from skiing for a moment to be together in a group shot outside of the ski lodge, at Alta ski resort in Utah

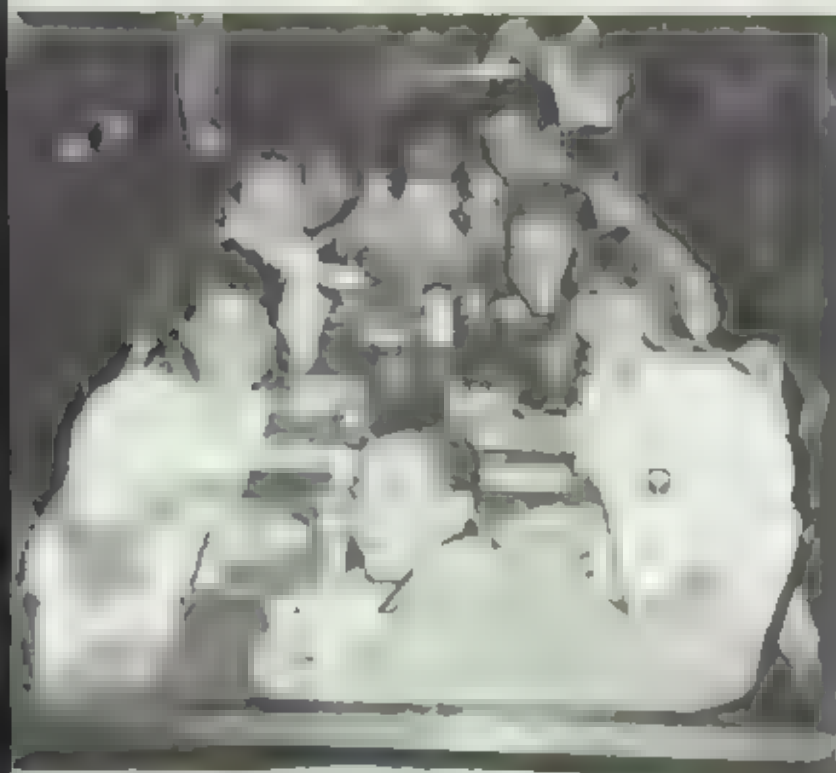

use. This year the club purchased a video camera enabling them to make their own videos of their trips. At their meetings they watched ski films and served refreshments. It gave the students a chance to socialize with their friends and fellow peers. According to Garrett Villanueva, "I not only joined to ski, but to make friends and have a terrific time." The ski club officers for the year '86-87 were: Mike Benich-president, Brad Cox-vice president, Mark Stoleson-secretary, Lynnae Villanueva-treasurer, and Mr. Ladue-sponsor.

Club promotes acting

"Masque and Gavel stands out for promoting speech, theater and the performing arts throughout Corona del Sol and our community," said Chris Noder

They are known for hardwork and for having talented students that participate in tournaments. They have had many successful fundraisers such as dances, candy sales, car washes and they also earned money for putting on special productions.

Masque and Gavel support Actors and speech and debate. They used the money that they earned for costumes, royalties and sets. They also used it for travel, board and tournament fees.

The sponsor Linda Parrish is widely known in this school. She sponsored three clubs, actors anonymous, speech and debate and Masque and Gavel. She is also talented in performing herself. She spends a lot of time with these clubs. Shannon Tucker was the president of Masque and Gavel. "It's fun to get involved in all the different aspects in drama and speech." said Shannon Tucker.

Actors Anonymous repertory company stands out for performing plays. They have done many plays this year such as, "Le Menu", "Don't drink The Water", and others. They also do plays for class assignments

Actors Anon. is supported by Masque and Gavel. They use the money they get for props, sets, and royalty fees

The sponsor, Mrs. Parrish, spends a lot of time with the clubs that she represents

Speech and Debate also is sponsored by Linda Parrish. They do not have an elected president, but they all work together to keep everything going the way planned

Speech and Debate is also supported by Masque and Gavel. They use the money for tournament fees, transportation costs and lodging

There are many successful Corona students that win awards at the tournaments

Both clubs have grown rapidly throughout the years here at Corona. They both do a lot of performing in front of audiences also Speech and Debate was started in 1979. Actors Anon. was developed in 1980

There are many talented students here at Corona. Some reasons for joining this club were: "To expand on acting techniques and to work at something I love," Jenn

Rodgers. "To work on my acting techniques and to be able to perform and have fun," Jenn Goldberg. "Wanted to get into a group that centers on acting," Rick Parry

Language clubs at Corona del Sol have excelled for the past ten years, and 1986-87 was no exception.

The French club is very special because it is the only club devoted to France and the French culture. Betsy Bowler, the president of the club, worked extremely hard to keep club business organized.

The only fundraiser they had was club dues paid by the members. These dues were used for the opportunity to test and taste different cheeses and food from France. They also donated money to United Way and wrote letters to pen pals who live in France. Mr. Nissly was the sponsor of this unique club.

"I think the German club has gained a reputation as a fun and active club to be in. We do activities and we have fun." said Mrs. Fullerton, sponsor of the German Club.

This year a German exchange group came to CdS. The club took the Germans with the money the club raised from candy and advent calendar sales, to Disneyland.

This year the German club was very active. They had "get acquainted" dinners, went horseback riding, parties and sponsored the "Christmas around the world" banquet. The president of the club was Kristina Tromp.

"National Spanish Society is to recognize outstanding Spanish students," said Mrs. Vinaras, sponsor of the club. The president was Grace Retiro. The club raised money to go towards scholarships and A.P. exams by having several different candy sales throughout the year.

Members of the club enjoyed getting together at meetings to learn more about the Spanish Culture

Spanish club is a special club devoted to the Spanish culture. They had fundraisers to help subsidize the cost of the Spanish dinner that Connie Shafer, sponsor, took them on. They also participated in Mrs. Fullerton's "Christmas Around the World" party.

The club met once a month. During their meetings they had guest speakers who either spoke Spanish or had traveled to a Spanish speaking country.

Clubs look to future

This year the outdoor science club had a formidable amount of students join and actively participate. (about 75 members.)

It was very easy to be a part of the outdoor science club because it's coordinated with the advanced biology 3-4 class

The main fundraiser for the outdoor science club was an all year bumper sticker sale held in the book store. The money raised went towards paying transportation costs for field trips.

The main activities of the outdoor science club were coordinating wilderness survival trips, an oceanography field trip to California, and horsetrips.

The president of the outdoor science club was Todd Mellor and the sponsor was Mr. Trimble.

Med club was organized to help students interested in medical careers look into different opportunities available for them in the field. Joining the Med club enables a student to actually see what the medical profession has to offer and introduce them into the field so they have exposure before continuing on in their chosen career.

The president of the Med club was Julie Eubanks and the sponsor was Mrs. Koeckl.

The main activities for the Med club this year were an EMT guest speaker and other guest speakers who talked about their medical professions.

The Wrestleretts were a support group for the wrestlers. This year's sponsor was Mrs. Chaussee. The wrestleretts had many responsibilities which included: Taking down slats, video taping wrestlers in action, making signs for meets and most important to cheer on the wrestlers. The club began last year with the name of "Mat Maids", which was changed to Wrestleretts. The president of the club was Jennifer Thompson-Barrier. This year's fundraiser were selling Christmas ornaments. According to Mrs. Chaussee, the girls involvement in the club was good and they showed a lot of support and help for the wrestlers

This years basket stat club was busy supporting the basketball teams. Basket Stat started in 1982. Their responsibilities included keeping stats for basketball games, to serve as an auxillary to the basketball teams of CdS, promote student interest in basketball teams and raise funds to be used to promote basketball programs. The kind of fundraisers they did were a car wash and a free throw contest. The president of basket stats was Kathy Stapley. Coach Duane was asked how the basket stats were a help to him and he replied. "They were very helpful in keeping stats at the games, also in support of the teams."

The Diamond Aztecs were another another one of our fabulous team supporters. They kept care of baseball game books, and the P.A. system during the baseball games, and from the game books came all of their individual and team stats. All sponsors and teams appreciated the support of these groups.

Dedicated Clubs

The auto club was dedicated to promoting and developing a student's knowledge and interest in the field of automotive technology. The auto club is not a new club to the Corona campus and though it just began last year, more and more members are starting to take part and get involved in the club. One of the main activities of the auto club was to help out with faculty and student automotive emergencies. These were all done for a small fee. The president of the auto club this year was Samuel Benedict and the sponsor was Mr. George S. Palich. The major fundraisers for the club were selling reconditioned donated autos, and repairs on student and teacher autos.

The money collected from the fundraisers went toward the yearly trip to the west coast to where members could visit speed shops.

When asked, why he joined the auto club senior Matt Madruga simply said, "Because I enjoy working on cars and there are many educational opportunities!"

To all of those members who helped out students with automotive dilemmas this year we say, "Thanks guys, what would we have done without ya?"

The renaissance art club is a club that enables students to widely expand their creative and hidden talents. For anyone who loves to draw, paint, or do anything the least bit imaginative, this club is definitely for you!!

This year the sponsor of the R.A. Club was Karen Saunders and the president was Nancy Clark.

The major fundraisers of the club were a booth at the homecoming carnival and an imaginary art poster sale. The money collected from the fundraisers went towards adding art culture and projects to the school campus, to build another sculpture on campus and to take photography trips to the Grand Canyon and different monuments.

When asked why she joined the Renaissance Art Club, Nancy Clark replied, "I think that it will broaden my empiricism and knowledge of the arts and I plan on making a living of it when I graduate from college." At first there was little enrollment and then "BOOM" the guitar club really began to expand and all classes were filled. Many members joined because they were starting a band or just to improve their artistry.

The president of the guitar club was Carrie Augustyn. The sponsor was Mr. O'Leary.

Some of the club's major fundraisers this year were cheese and sausage sales and a candy sale. The money collected from the fundraisers went towards buying uniforms, solo ensembles, and going on tour.

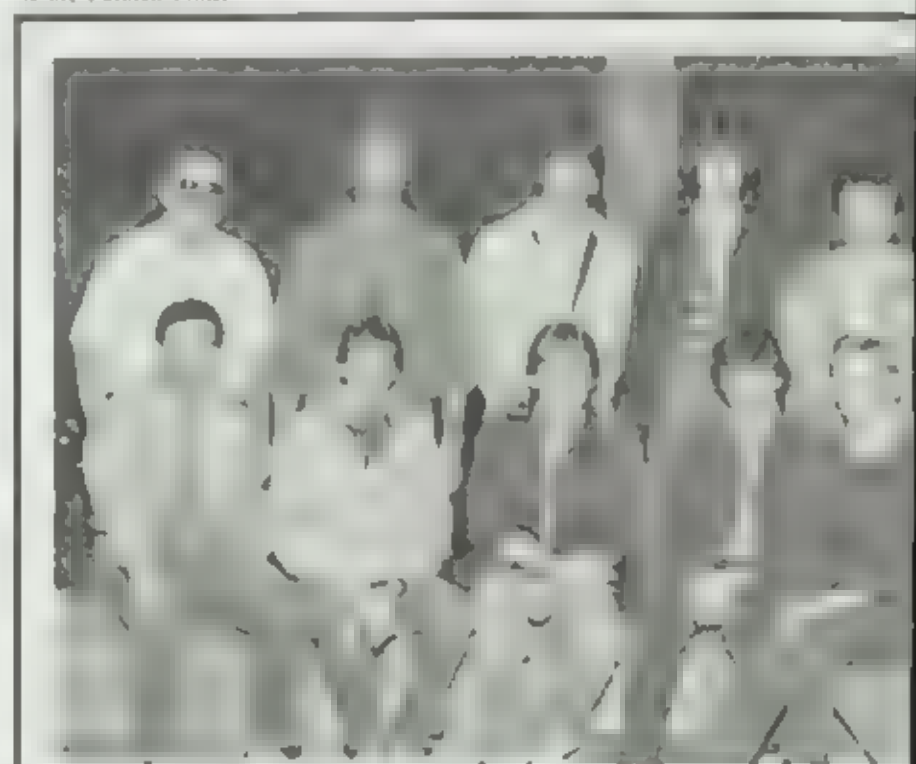

The main activities of the guitar club this year were concerts, solo and ensemble, going on tour and a big club get together at the end of the year.

FACES!

140 CLASSES

Look us over! The following pages are filled with the 2,200 smiling faces we saw everyday at Corona during the past year. For the past ten years Corona students have been one unit, bound together to create Corona del Sol High School. Yet, during competition time, classes became separate groups with different ideas. Remember the first assembly of the year when the senior spirit was unbeatable and they overwhelmingly overthrew the vote for the ever so popular spirit stick? Remember the Homecoming assembly when the "quick to learn" freshmen had more posters than all the other classes put together, and they were awarded the stick? Remember the Halloween assembly when the "future upperclassmen" sophomores had so much spirit that everyone waved yellow balloons over the Aztec football stadium? And finally, remember when the juniors waited until they were remaining to show their pride and enthusiasm in Corona by bursting with spirit in the next assembly? This shows that every class had a special quality and uniqueness that made it different from any other. That is what makes Corona a success.

Each class displayed a certain quality. The freshmen have the energy that will continue to keep Corona strong for future years. The sophomores were expected to proudly represent our school and provide good behavioral examples to the freshmen. They are now looking forward to becoming upperclassmen, dignified and sophisticated. The new upperclassmen this year were the juniors. Since the junior year is undoubtedly the most important academic year, these teens just set the mold for their future by establishing firm foundations for their destinies. LOOK AT US NOW, SENIORS! We have come a long way! We have enjoyed the prestige of being called "seniors" all year, but now we must face the world with the values and ideas that have been established in the past four years. The first decade of Corona has been a success because of the cooperation and hard work the entire student body has provided over the years. These four classes have given Corona del Sol the strength to go down in history as one of the most magnificent and spirited high schools ever!

"I never want to go to class or do homework!"

-Sam Faraci

"Bringing a load of books home but not doing any homework!"

-Jeanette Politico

"Thinking about 'other' things rather than my assignments."

-Treavor Allen

"Coming to school everyday hoping the lights would go out!"

-Andy Keller

"Locking my keys in my car, forgetting my locker combination, remembering my homework when it's due, and losing my mind!"

-Kelly Heffernan

"Counting down the days 'till Christmas vacation and totally blowing off homework and going out instead. When's graduation?"

-Anne Badger

"Just trying to pass! Homework?? What's that? I wait everyday for the bell to ring 'cause then I'm one day closer to graduation!"

-Leslie Syens

"Talking on the phone all night instead of doing my homework!"

-Anne Matthias

"Not only do I make up all kinds of excuses for not going to class, but I attempt things I would have never dreamed of doing as a sophomore. I just don't care anymore! And it's really hard to do all these college A.P.'s when you're sick of any type of school!"

-Stephanie Wilt

"Aargh!!"

-Grace Retiro

"I woke up everyday hoping for snow so we wouldn't have to go to school and I dropped all of my classes except for three, second semester. Most of my school day was off campus!"

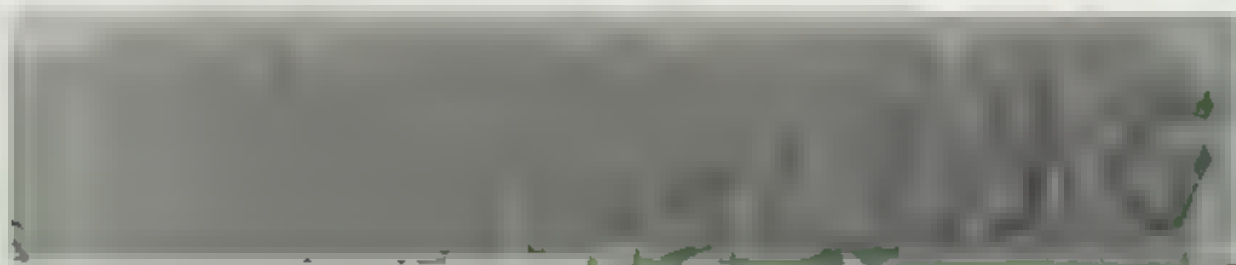

-Shannon Tucker

"The most sleep I got was during class!"

-Missy Keller

"Going out all the time and deciding to do my homework in the morning and always getting up too late!"

"I thought the senior class council did an excellent job this year and I was glad to be a part of it!"
-Tracey Stites

"I have been on student council before, but this year was the best!"
Marlene Vega

"I was glad I was given the chance to get involved with CdS and be a part of council."
-Kelly Heffernan

It is a very busy and hectic Monday morning here at Corona del Sol High School, but the 1986-87 senior class council still finds time to meet. Shhh the meeting is coming to order. President Spike Lawrence pounds his gavel and everyone is quiet, he gets the meeting underway by calling on Marlene Vega for the secretarial minutes. As Vice President, Tracey Stites listens attentively to the reports, she is always ready to help Spike out. Now it is time for a financial up-date. Treasurer, Kelly Heffernan gives an accurate money report from the record book and the senior class council finds out they're doing well with their income because of their hard work with fundraisers. Next, it is time to discuss business: blood drive, graduation, senior trips to Mazatlan, Hawaii and California, dances, car washes, candy sales and Homecoming activities and slave sale. What an agenda! All decisions have been made and the meeting is adjourned by the president. What will be discussed next Monday morning? Plenty of things for our busy and active 1986-87 senior class council!

Hendricks "gallops" to Olympics

Nancy Hendricks, a 1987 senior from Corona del Sol, has a very special talent—horse riding and showing. Seventeen-year-old Hendricks has been riding horses for nine years and has enjoyed the experience thoroughly. "I have been interested in horses since I was eight years old, and that was when I started taking riding lessons. I love horseback riding and the competitions are always such great learning experiences." said Hendricks. Hendricks is currently number one in the country for second level riding and she hopes that within seven years she will move to the highest possible level. Hendricks owns two horses—one Hannoverian named "Alobar" and her Arabian show horse "Wizans Fenek." With these horses Nancy practices all types of riding skills: western, endurance riding, and English saddle seat. However, her main riding event is the Arabian dressage where she performs in Regional shows in California against many other well-qualified contestants. Nancy Hendricks and her two beautiful horses are future prospects for the Olympic events. With her tremendous lead in the country, Hendricks has certainly planned on the Olympics as being a part of her future. "One day I hope to be in the Olympics with my horse because it would be a challenge I would never forget. The satisfaction I would feel would be unbelievable and if I were in the Olympics it would be such an honor." said senior, Nancy Hendricks

What do a balance beam, five to six hours six days a week, sprained ankles, and mats all have in common? It's hard work, a lot of time, but fun. It's Jessica Smith and gymnastics. Smith has been interested in gymnastics for nine years.

Smith has been on the Desert Devil gymnastic team for eight years. It takes a lot of hard work to put all the kicks, twists, tucks, and balancing together. So Smith practices six days a week. It all pays off at the end in competition meets. Smith has competed from California to Louisiana. She also competed in Hawaii this past December. Smith's preferred event is the floor exercise, she likes all of the events though. Smith hopes to receive a scholarship from a large university, such as Colorado, ASU, Utah or Penn State. Smith said "I hope to get a scholarship at University of Utah."

Student pursues journalism

Football, basketball, baseball, all sports are things senior Steve Gilbert covers for the Tempe Daily Newspaper. Gilbert started working for TDN in the Spring of '85" by calling in Corona's spring sports scores. Gilbert advanced by the fall of '85 to cover the CdS football games. They also started sending him to games around the valley. After a game Gilbert said "I'm lucky to have an hour to write my story before it must be to press."

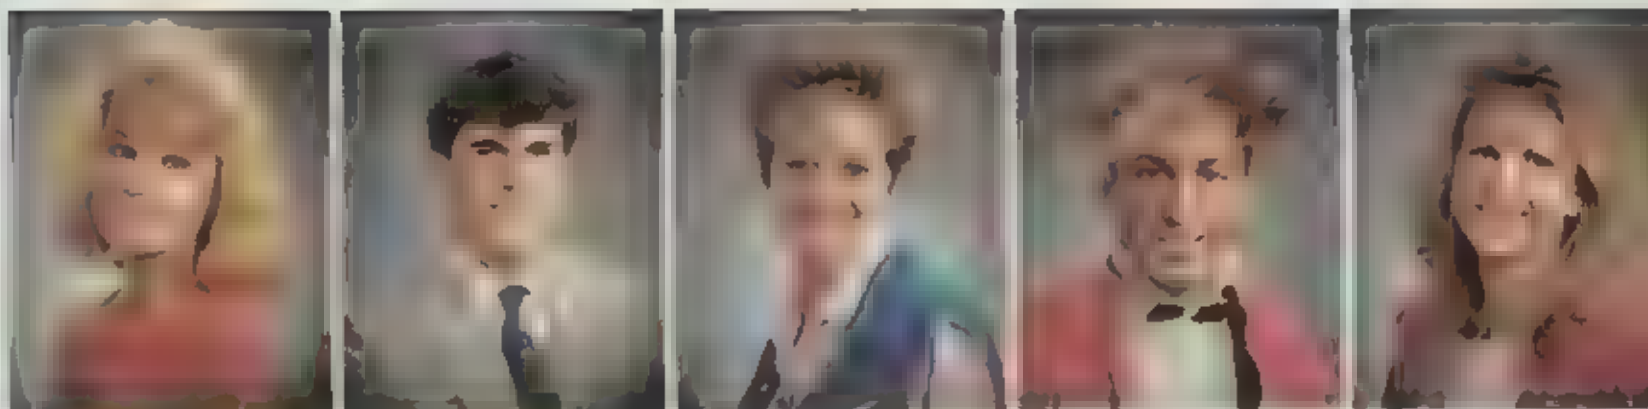

Gilbert has also done feature stories on such people as Fred Combs and the badminton team. After graduation Gilbert wants to pursue his journalism career while working at the Tempe Daily Newspaper.

"It's a great opportunity to work for the Tempe Daily Newspaper."

'Friends, homework, fun, and graduation' These are the things that seniors have had, worked at, and waited for. Every high school persons dream is to graduate.

Just picture it, in ten years we will look back at our old year-books, and remember all the crazy things we did. Like shaved heads, dressing up for homecoming week, and spirit week. All the football and basketball games, and remember all the times people have ditched and have not been caught.

Remember all the parties? And remember on Monday morning the English test that was forgotten? Oh yes, those were the days. They were filled with friends, homework, fun, and graduation. Now think about it; would you change a minute of it? It has been the best time of our lives

Greenbank competes on water skis

Out of school, senior Scott Greenbank is an extremely dedicated water skier. This Corona del Sol senior has been water skiing off the back of his father's boat since he was six years old. Greenbank says he has been skiing just for fun, but now it's time to enter some competitions. Greenbank, who skis approximately 200 hours a year, will be competing in the 1987 summer Men's Slalom Ski Competition where he will professionally ski on a difficult course containing six balls as obstacles to go around. Greenbank claims he is ready for this race because two years ago he skied barefoot in a competition at Lake Havasu. Scott Greenbank does most of his skiing at Firebird Lake and he hopes to someday ski professionally.

"JOBE is the best brand of water skis and Lake Powell is the best place to use them!"

The 86-87 Junior Class has really had a great year. They were ahead of the rest in spirit and raised money for the United Way by having a blood drive. It makes one wonder how this class could have been so enthusiastic when they had to worry about getting all their important jobs done too. The junior class had a lot of responsibilities that were placed upon them throughout the year. Juniors were the ones who designed and organized prom. This took much time to plan, and fundraisers were organized in order to raise their money for prom. This year the junior class put on candy sales, sold kazoos, and sold Corona Polo and Beach Club sweatshirts. All fundraisers went very well. This year prom was held at the Raddison Resort on May 9. Thanks to the junior class council, who have been very cooperative, this year's prom was a memorable experience for all Corona students who went and they will look back with fond memories.

Zimmerman

"Tripping over nothing and dropping our books, and then slipping in puddles of water by the lockers."

-Dawn Schrock & Denise Anderson-Jrs.

"Going up to a friend and tickling them and then finding out it is someone else that looks like them from the back."

-Renee Rhorer-Jr.

"I went to a party this summer and I was giving this guy a hard time and he threw me in the pool."

-Lisa Armbruster-Jr.

"It was the second day of school and I went to class. It was the right class, but unfortunately it was the wrong hour! I was wondering who were all these new people? Gosh what an embarrassment!"

-Jason Hawthorne-Jr.

"Accidentally honking the horn at a stop light when cars were all around."

-Mark Cowan-Jr.

"When I went to my car to go to lunch, two girls had wrapped my car with toilet paper and printed Happy Birthday on cardboard and taped it to my car. It was the weirdest lunch of my life."

-Brent Cater-Jr.

"It was when I told my English class a story about how I tried to saddle a chicken and a guy in the class told everybody outside of class."

-Amy Lindy-Jr.

"When I was a Freshman, the first day of school, I was with a friend and after lunch we went to class and after about five minutes I found out I was in the wrong class so I slipped out of that class fast and went to my right class."

-Seth Higgins-Jr.

"When I was a freshman I fell asleep in class. I slept through both bells and after the next class had got there, the teacher woke me up to tell me that it was time for my next class. When I got up I had drooled all over. Everybody was laughing at me!"

-Greg Kotsakis-Jrs.

Never forgotten

Corona del Sol junior, Tracy Lynn Olsen, passed away this year December 12, 1986, at the age of 16. Tracy Olsen's terminal bone cancer was discovered when she was 13 years old, six weeks before her eighth grade graduation. Before that time Tracy was an avid sports participant; she enjoyed playing as well as watching all sports, but her preference was cross country running. Olsen began Corona, like her classmates, as a new freshman. Unfortunately, she was only able to attend her classes for approximately half the year. It seemed to get worse for Olsen. Her sophomore year she attended very little due to hospitalization. Being home bound allowed Olsen to change interests and take up new hobbies. Reading and cross-stitch became predominant pass times in her life. CdS provided helpful tutors and Olsen was able to complete most of her high school studies.

Close friends included Mandy Riffle, Amy Pedotto and Stacie Siegenthaler who remember her well. However, all Corona students and faculty will remember her as Tracy Lynn Olsen—a girl full of pride, enthusiasm and most importantly—courage.

"She was a brave girl who maintained her sense of humor and loving disposition to the end."

Sophs raise $'s for dances

The sophomore class was very busy this year, earning almost a total of 900 dollars. The fundraisers they sponsored included: candy sales, boxer shorts, car washes, flower sales, boo-grams and of course Coronation. Others included flowers for Valentine's Day and singing telegrams for your sweethearts.

Their goals were to raise the money for Coronation this year and Prom next year. Tim Kelly, sophomore president, said, "We would like to make next years Prom the best ever!" Another goal of the sophomores was to win the spirit competition. At every assembly the sophomore class did their best to cheer and show their class spirit by making signs, dressing up and having fun!

Karl Cox and Cathy Hornaday were the sophomore class sponsors. The class officers were: President Tim Kelly, Vice President Diana Call, Girls rep. Kim Lindstrom, Boys rep. Kevin Austin, Treasurer Danny Lopez, and Secretary Kristen MacDonald.

Sophomore class officers. Danny Lopez Treasurer. Tim Kelly President. Kristin MacDonald Secretary. Second row Kim Lindstrom Girls Rep. Kevin Austin Boys Rep., Diana Call Vice President.

The sophomore student council officers, representatives and sponsors. Together these Aztecs worked hard to make their class stand out.

Heather Briggs-Freshman

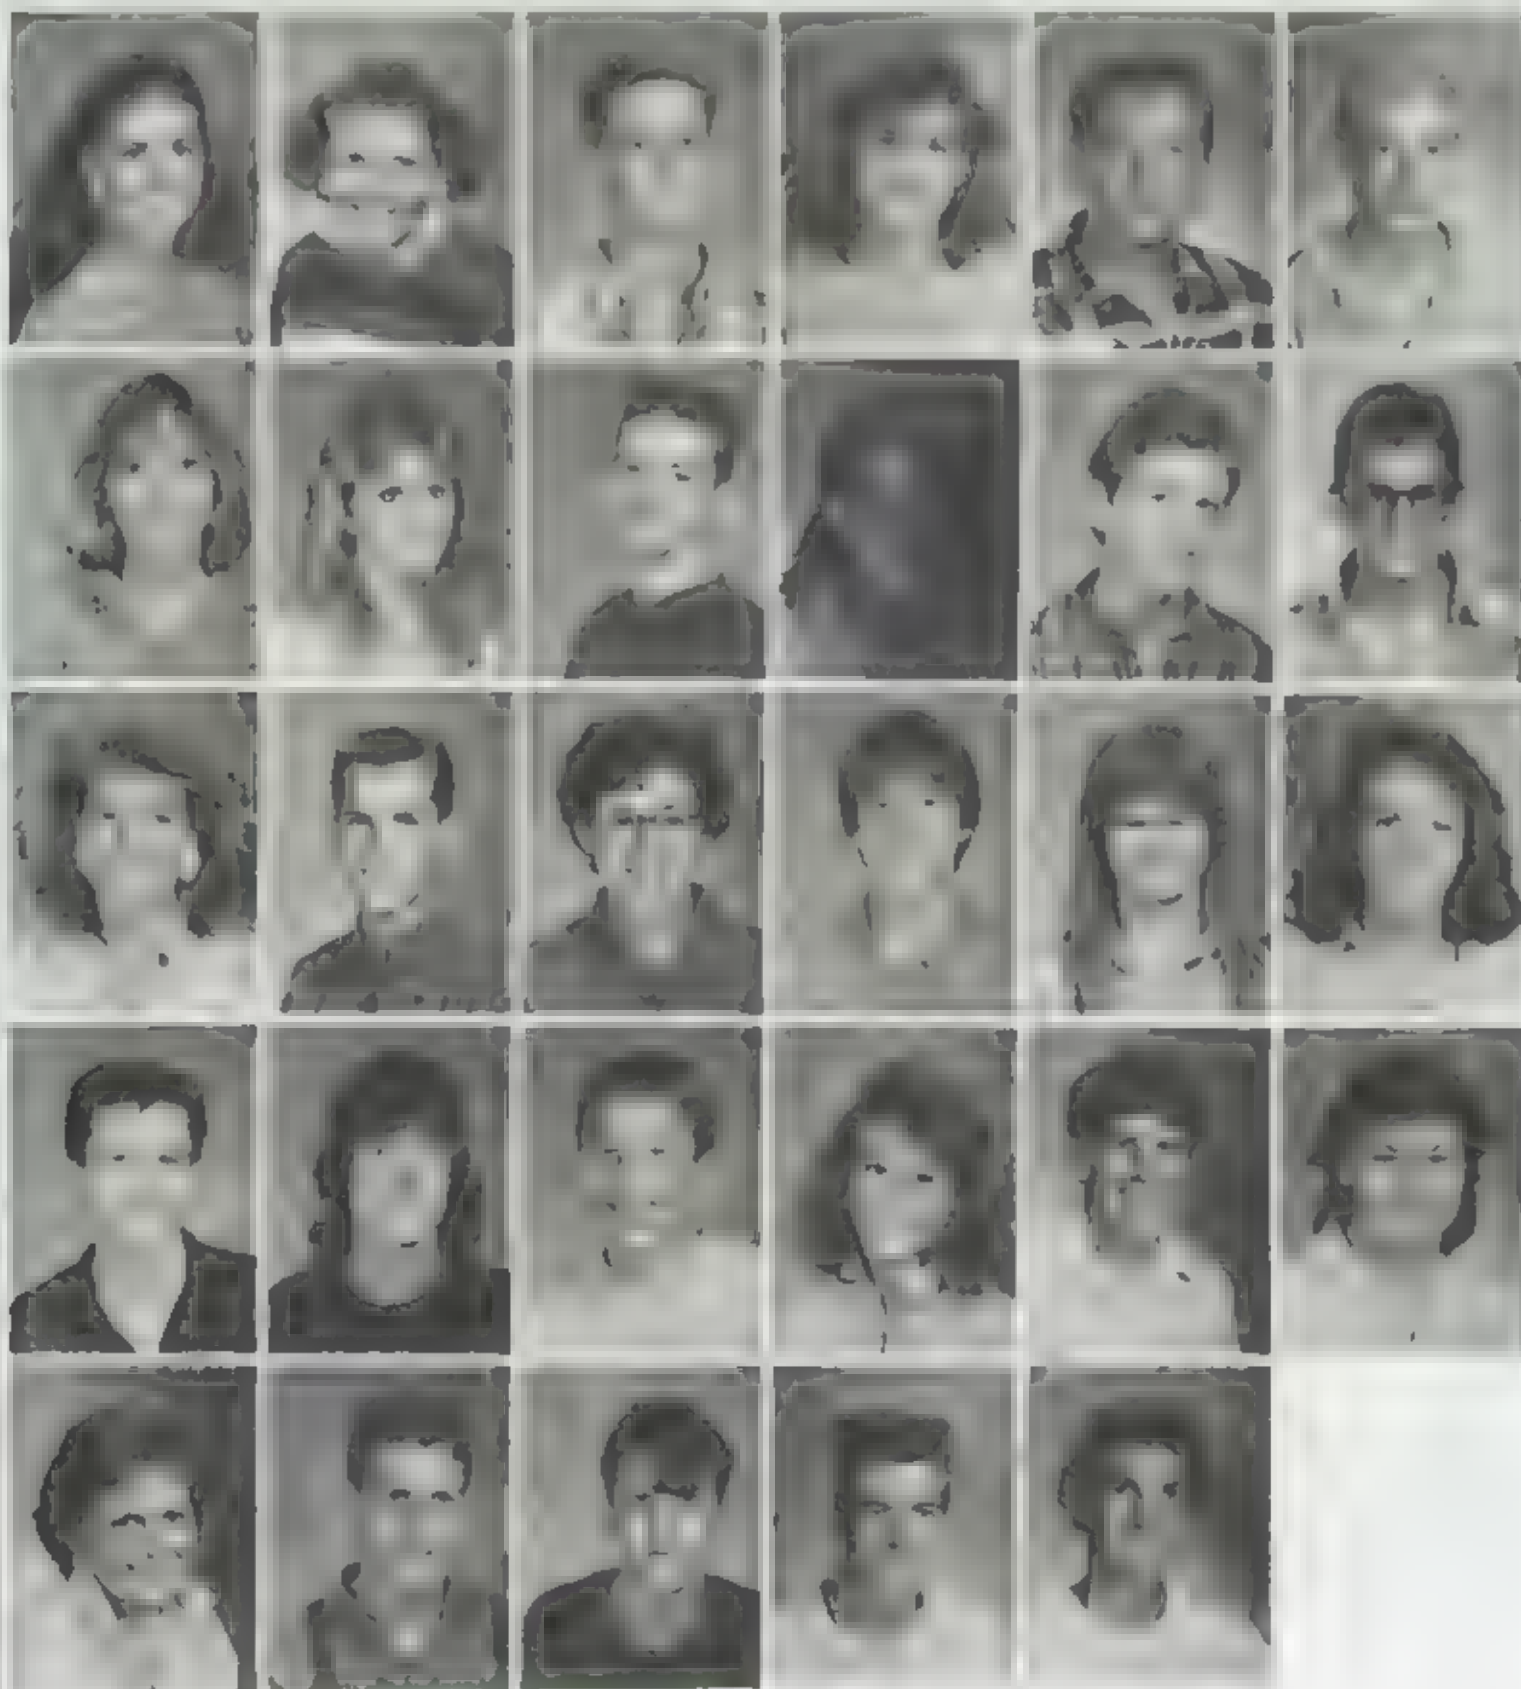

"We should have at least 45 minutes for lunch, better food and better selections"

Jill L. Oelkers-Junior

"There isn't enough time for lunch; especially if you go out for lunch, you are really pressed for time. Driving to lunch is really unsafe most of the time. People speed, drive down the yellow (middle) lane, and show off a lot. I'm guilty as much as the next guy for that. We definitely need another 15-20 minutes for lunch. Also, as if I haven't said enough, I had to eat on campus 2 days in a row while the Coke taste test went on, and the quality of the food was as poor as heck. My bagel was tough, slush was too syrupy, and both BLT's were 10 days old and the bread was soggy. There's a lot more but I've said enough."

Class of '90

9-0 Is The Way to Go

FINE AND MIGHTY CLASS OF '90

This motto was chosen by the freshman student council to represent their freshman year and their next three years at Corona del Sol. The spirit of the freshmen was raised by the continuing activities the freshmen student council held during the year '86-'87. They won the spirit stick at the second pep assembly. They were the only freshmen class in the last several years to win it. The class of '90 led by Ms. Skeels and Mrs.

Denny challenged the other three classes the year during many events. In October they sponsored a school dance after the last home varsity football game. They raised money for the dance by holding a car wash. Future plans for the class of '90 contain many fundraisers including a candy sale. The freshman student council Officers were Pres. Jason Linhart, Vice Pres. Kristin Breunig, Sec. Amy Baldwin, Tres. Amy Breunig, Boy's Rep. Franco Breunig, Girl's Rep. Tracy Knight.

Jenny Noterpole startles freshmen when she springs into their group picture during fourth period lunch

"I don't think I can take another torturing hour of Typing 1-2", says Timmy Kiger at the beginning of sixth hour

Time speaks

Freshmen raise speech to new linguistic heights each year by adding their own type of expressions

Over ten years across the world, language has changed dramatically. What was then "bog" (bogus) is now "crass".

Bizarrity is the link in similarity.

Was Then: "Relax, baby. Go with me and we'll listen to some far out Lynrd Skynrd records, it's real, for sure. Man, that guy you're with is a loser. He's freaked out, how un-hip, for sure. That conehead can't even hustle, for sure."

Is Now: "Hey, chic, chill. Let's take some tunes. I got a rad box. I'm like excellent. Take off, your dude's like a geek-mode. How lame he's a preppy. Bet he can't slam. What a zoner, maintain."

Some words make literary conscious people cringe. For example: "he goes", "she goes", these ones, ain't, you know, uh-uh, freshmens. we could go on forever, but you get the idea.

Of course there are also those words that never change such as; cool, funky, sick, gross, like, man, or okay.

No matter how you say it, the "language of adolescence" seems like a somewhat mutinous plot to overthrow the sanity of our parents.

Teacher Mrs. Centenni grabs freshmen's attention while she plays her version of the game show "Jeopardy", during her sixth period English class.

Look at our... TEACHERS!

An experienced even Corona del Sol's faculty is one of the very best in the state. In the 1985-86 school year our staff won the award for excellence in high school education and this made Corona one of the top eight schools in Arizona. All of the teachers are very dedicated to their work here and want to continue their outstanding contributions to keep Corona among the best

Our staff does a lot more than just teach and administer. From Mrs. Douglass staying after and helping a student, Miss Young enjoying some free time, Mr. Mailes presiding over the school, and Mr. Campbell doing all the little extras that help make Corona del Sol so unique. If it was not for those little extras like sponsoring a class or a club, or coaching an athletic team, Corona would not function as well. The faculty's hard work, understanding, patience, and expertise have all been tremendous factors in helping to make Corona del Sol the overall outstanding high school it is today.

Taking the Lead...

In the past ten years our secretarial staff has changed from 2 full and 1 part-time secretary in the main office, and 1 full and 1 part time in guidance, to six in the main office, and one in guidance. Our secretaries have faced great changes over the past ten years. Now we have computers that handle absences, and word processors. "This equipment makes it so much easier to do our work, and it cuts down time," said Sharon Craven, our attendance clerk. "Work load is extremely big," said Lindy Ginn, guidance secretary. All of our secretaries have worked here for three to five years, but Kay Parker has been here for ten years. Other secretaries include Sharon Grow, principals secretary, Marilyn Roskowitz, attendance clerk, Marvell Estrella is Mr. Christensen and Mr. Honaker's secretary, Terry McClendon is our switchboard operator and Mary Lou Wearne.

Reflecting back ten years ago

The faculty and staff here at Corona seem to really enjoy participating in school spirit even though they are here to teach us, they still get involved with the students and school activities. They always get excited on dress up days, especially orange and yellow days. They put a lot of their time into the school assemblies to make them as enjoyable as possible for the student body.

We have one of the finest staffs in the Tempe High School District, and they are always finding room for improvement. "They are one of the most caring and cooperative staffs I have ever worked with," said Mr. Mailes

The staff has really come a long way from ten years ago. They seem to really feel that Corona is another home away from home. Teachers are really close to a lot of their students, and students seem to come to them more about their problems, whether they are personal or deal with school. As stated before, Corona has come a long way.

Ten memorable exciting years

Corona del Sol High School has changed a lot over the past ten years. There has been a drastic change in student enrollment and in the surroundings of the school. Ten years ago Corona was out in the middle of no where, in a dirt field. Now there are a number of homes surrounding our school.

Throughout the faculty section are quotes from some of the teachers who were teaching here ten years ago along with their pictures. Sit back and enjoy taking a look back. It should be a lot of fun to see how much the teachers have changed over the years. Not only have the teachers changed, but the fashions and hairstyles have also taken on many changes. Let this be the most memorable ten year anniversary. It can possibly be.

Mr. Mailes

"When we opened students had to come from other high schools, there wasn't a sense of belonging then and now there is."

Mrs. Kamm

Dedicated teachers prepare the school

Ten years ago, when the school first opened, typewriters and desks were still packed in boxes sitting in the classrooms. The weekend before the first day of school, teachers, maintenance men, and administrators, including our principal, and Mr. Love, former principal, came to school and frantically put the desks together and organized all of the classrooms. Luckily everything was ready for the first day of school.

"How exciting it was to begin at a brand new school and to be a part of the first year ever for Corona del Sol!" said Ms. Sobotka. According to her, business classes were held in the home economics rooms and everything was hectic for a few days.

Corona has since then taken on many changes as far as surroundings and student population goes. All of our teachers' dedication have brought about some of these changes with all of their hard work, and have made Corona del Sol what it is today.

Since Corona has turned out to be the beautiful school that it is, that hectic weekend before the opening of the school doesn't seem to be that bad. Overall it seemed to be a very special event. It was well worth all of the hard work.

Cooking and sewing is not all we teach

"Home-economics is not just cooking and sewing," said Mrs. Barbara Smith. Home economics has become a popular word here at Corona. Our home economics department has eight courses to offer. They consist of foods, sewing, independent living, child development, Hero, fashion merchandise information, human relations, and home design.

The activities that the students are involved in range from having a pre-school for children in child development to weddings in human relations-with the ceremony and reception. Hero (Home Economic Related Occupations) attends state conferences and enters a scrapbook in competition. Every class or club in the home-economics department adds their own personal touch to the growing department.

Home economics classes give many students a chance to expand their talent and learn more about themselves.

Library leads active Aztecs to knowledge

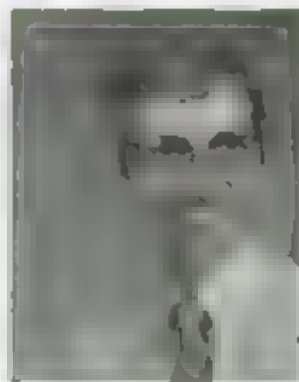

It is impossible to walk into the library and see one of the librarians with nothing to do. They are always diligently working on something. The librarians kindly give up eight hours of their day and dedicate themselves to Corona students and the staff. They spend most of their time supervising the library and keeping all of the books and magazines organized on the shelves.

In the library there are many things available to you as a student. These include books used for research papers, magazines, newspapers, news banks, audio visual aids, and books for leisure reading.

We as students at Corona owe a lot of thanks to the librarians for their patience and their help. The library workers include Ginny Chausee, Rosalee Spaulding, Tracy Axcell, Vera Nehls, Grete Pendergast, and Trent Bowman. Without their work and dedication I don't know what we as students would do.

Taking a look . . .

BACK!

Taking a look toward the future! As the year comes to an end, the staff and students of Corona del Sol begin to direct their attention toward future years. New goals will be set, more achievements will be accomplished, and Corona del Sol High School will continue to grow and prosper. As shown in the above pictures, CdS students are beginning to look onward by preparing for their futures. Graduation is a memorable time and each senior proudly "takes their hats off" to all of their well achieved accomplishments. Even though the school is closed for the 1986-87 school year, some younger Aztec students enthusiastically wait outside the gates for the following year to commence, as opposed to the impatient seniors who "can't wait" to get on with their lives. In the previous pages we have "taken a look back" to the first year of our school. We have seen many school activities and functions that have noticeably changed over one decade. The comparisons that were made were amusing to look at and we enjoyed seeing the differences from "then" compared to our "now" ideas. But have you ever wondered what the students who will be attending Corona del Sol ten years from now will think about us?

Corona del Sol, 1986-87! What a year! As CdS celebrates its tenth year as a high school we enjoy memories, but we also are looking toward an exciting future.

It is amusing for the 1987 seniors to think about their past high school years as they are preparing to graduate and make a life for themselves. Hey seniors, when you hear "True" or "Safety Dance" or "Total Eclipse of the Heart" don't you immediately think of your freshman year? And now where has Michael Jackson gone, did he beat it? Remember how he was such a phenomenal superstar and we were always so 'thrilled' to hear his music? How about our sophomore year? MADONNA, MADONNA, MADONNA! Her music was all we heard! "Borderline", "Like a Virgin", and the all-time favorite "Crazy for You". Next came junior year. This was the year we found out we were "Born in the USA" with Bruce Springsteen, and we wanted to be "King for a Day" with the Thompson Twins.

and to "Get to Know Each Other Well" with Howard Jones OMD's "If you Leave" became a popular song during the dedication hour. Here it is, our senior year! What are the well-known songs of this year? Whitney Houston dominated at the Music Awards for her entire album. The "Top Gun" soundtrack certainly was a big hit with "Take my Breath Away" and "Danger Zone". Run-DMC has definitely hit the charts with their album, "Raising Hell" and "You be Illin'". But who knows what certain songs will stand out in our minds at the end of this year? We won't know until we are sitting in our dorm rooms, working or living at home and remembering.

As CdS looks toward the future many changes are certainly occurring for the school. New attendance policies, parking policies, registration requirements, new auditorium and other changes are creating a future CdS!

What a great year
it has been!
High-lighted on these pages are just a few of the
"BEST OF's" in 1986-
87. Several other events were quite recognizable. Badminton placed in state, Academic Decathlon excelled and spirit soared! The school year certainly had it's share of "BESTS" and CdS is definitely destined to forever shine!

The CdS basketball team rejoices after beating #1 ranked Chaparral. The mighty Aztecs proved to be tough competitors.

The student body council of Corona shows us their interpretation of how high school students dressed ten years ago.

Senior, Chad Trepanier takes part in one of the many pep rallies at CdS this year. This is one pep rally Chad will always remember!

The Rose Bowl in Pasadena, California was the destination for our beloved ASU Sun Devils this year. Their superb victory proved quite triumphant with CdS students.

Double page photo: Shown here are enthusiastic parents and fans, exalted seniors, and the triumphant band. All are doing their part to make the graduation a tremendous success. Following page: "HAT'S OFF!" to another exceptional CdS year! Top right: Senior graduates proudly walk in line to their designated seats.

With anxious heart impatiently I wait
 For weeks to pass and final days to come.
 High spirits soar and parties held by some Five hundred seniors meet to celebrate
 As praise and cards and gifts accumulate
 To senioritis I quickly succumb
 The thought of graduation makes me numb
 I long for freedom and to 'cide my fate
 Yet, oh how sad those final days will be
 To say good-bye to friends both old and new.
 Some things just cannot ever be the same.
 The freedom sought is now no victory
 As separation destroys friendships true.
 It seems that life is merely a cruel game.

-Chrissy Levering, senior

YEAR END!

Look at SUNSET Staff!

Dearest CdS students,

Here we are at the closing of our 10th anniversary edition of the yearbook. We, as your co-editors, can honestly say we survived this grueling undertaking with fervid anticipation. Now as we sit in Anne's room and have our last few pages just finished, we realize we must write our "co-editor" letter to CdS which is supposed to include our deepest heartfelt emotions. Frankly, we looked back in the old yearbooks at other letters and decided that, "NO, plagiarism just isn't our style!" Of course, we weren't going to cozen the student body. So, here we are using our own brain power to come up with a letter, please bear with us!

Just as editors have done in the past years, we would like to thank our staff. We would especially like to thank our sponsor; we certainly appreciate the fact that we had the opportunity to be under the aegis of Mrs. DiCesare. The photojournalism class can certainly not be forgotten, without their efforts we would have gotten nowhere-in fact, we wouldn't have a yearbook! Portraits by Reg came through yet again with all their outstanding pictures of the seniors, clubs and sports. Updike photography provided us with exceptional underclass pictures. We couldn't have survived without their professional touches. In addition, the Booster Clubs tremendous support will not be forgotten. The Sunset staff has been living and working in it's own microcosm for nine months. We'd like to point out the book's forte, that being every staff member's undying devotion to make this the best book ever. That was the goal throughout the entire nine months we spent together. We, as co-editors, can definitely say that every staffer was a virtuoso in their own right and we thank them for their superb creativity.

When we first began the year, our Josten's consultant termed our annual as a "dream book". We admit that this was a true prediction of what was to come and we hope you, as Corona students, agree that it is a 1987 masterpiece. Because of our outrageous creativity we began with an enormous budget and had to cut down our spending. Every line and bit of color lessened our wallets until it got to the point where we just stopped counting and exclaimed, "What the heck!"

We are now at the point in our letter where we'd like to apologize to our friends, classmates and teachers for constantly talking about our book. Yet when questioned we'd suddenly shut-up. (example) "Anne, I can't wait to see the cover!" "I know, Kelly, I can't either. It will look great with the " Anonymous classmate: "What, what are you guys talking about? we answer: "Oh, oh, um, nothing! Just wait until the book comes out!" (This was truly the hardest to keep quiet about and uphold the CdS tradition of not letting a detail about the book slip out!) We also hope we've satisfied the certain nameless few who continuously harassed us about how many pages they were on and why they couldn't be on more. We hope we've pleased you, BOYS!

As this letter draws to a close we realize that the chimerical task of producing a yearbook wasn't so impossible after all, it's done isn't it? We are presenting you with our fait accompli. There were numerous hours of hard work, after school and weekends put into the book by every member of the staff, and now as we shed our tears we must realize that we have finally finished our "dream book". We're quite happy with the results and we hope the feeling is mutual. We certainly enjoyed putting this book together and we hope the CdS student body enjoys this 10th anniversary edition!

LOOK IT UP!

Hey Aztecs!
Sneak a peek at all of the students
who attended Corona del Sol High School in 1986-87. As compared to ten years ago when the index was handwritten, the "modern" 1987
index was done on computer-alphabetically arranged for everyone's convenience. The ads are what make the SUNSET Yearbook possible. Ads are a form of business for the yearbook companies choose how much of a page they want to purchase and that money goes toward making the memory filled annual a success. Companies such as The Bare Cover, Milano Music, Minitti's, and Sally's Hallmark are great contributors to the yearbook fund. Corona's 1986-87 school year began the unique idea of senior ads. Secretly, several parents of our graduated seniors placed one-fourth page ads in this section of the yearbook. Special memories were reincarnated when the surprised seniors saw a picture of themselves and read the inspiring quote that followed. As Corona del Sol progresses, so will the number of students appearing in the index section. As Tempe continues to grow, more businesses will provide the SUNSET Yearbook with fundraising ads, and these will continue to make our annual a success.

If you think the best way to pay for college is to put it off for a few years and join the military, you're half right.

Because with the New GI Bill, you can join the Army National Guard and get a guaranteed minimum of $18,000 for college.

But best of all, you serve two days a month and two weeks a year. Which means you can go to school full-time. Right now. On us.

So the question you have to ask yourself is not, can you afford college.

The question is, can you afford to wait.

For more information about the Army Guard and the New GI Bill, contact your local Army National Guard recruiter.

THAT...

in 56% of Tempe bicycle - car accidents the bike rider was at fault;

40% of the 261 accidents in 1985 were caused by the bicyclist's failure to ride with the flow of traffic;

in 87% of all bicycle - car accidents the rider is injured or killed;

ALL bicycle or pedestrian citations will cost you $25 OR MORE;

TO AVOID BEING CITED...

1. Ride WITH THE FLOW of traffic not against it.
2. Obey ALL traffic control signs & signals.
3. Ride as CLOSE TO THE CURB as you safely can.

also...

When using sidewalks, YIELD to traffic as you enter crosswalks.

SLOW DOWN when approaching busy intersections.

DO NOT ASSUME that because you have the right-of-way you are immune from danger - in a car - bike collision the bicyclist always loses.

Make it a safe school year.

Save yourself the time, aggravation, and money involved with being cited- follow the traffic laws.

Failure to do so could cost you more than a ticket...

Michelle Patti will always be remembered for her special qualities which brought happiness and confidence to everyone she knew. Michelle attended Corona as a sophomore and junior after moving from Wisconsin. Michelle was quite active in school with academics and extra curricular activities among these, tennis, cross country and masque and gavel. She was highly regarded and admired by her teachers and classmates. Poetry, writing and music were also passions of Michelle's. Some examples of her work can be found in Corona's literary magazine, SPECTRUM.

Michelle brought happiness to those she knew through her cheerfulness and witty sense of humor. Michelle will always be remembered, and she will certainly be missed by all.

I have been thinking of you and wondering how you are getting on.
 I hope you are well and happy.
 I have been very busy lately,
 but I have managed to find some time to write you. I have been thinking of you very much and wondering how you are getting on. I hope you are well and happy. I have been very busy lately, but I have managed to find some time to write you. I have been thinking of you very much and wondering how you are getting on.

D'Anne,
hey what's up?
So your final year is here. I bet you can't wait to get out of here,
I don't blame you! Well
it's been great knowing you! Well to see your boyfriend! Oh, have fun with your summer, have a great summer, love ya.
Juzanne Garcia

D'Anne,
I'm really glad we became better friends this year. You're a real sweet girl. I'm going to miss you @ but I'm glad I'll see you at ASU. I'm glad we'll finally graduate! Well keep in touch over the summer & good luck in everything you do!
Love ya,
Kristina Abril

D'Anne,
Wass up girl? You
are such a funny lutz,
um..... DICK girl. I love
ya! Please K.I.T this summer.
We've had some fun times
together - not just in school.
We'll see each other at
A.S.U. and over the summer
I'm sure! Stay with your man!
Love ya,
Suzanne

D'ANNE, FEE ENTERPRISE
was a blast. Good luck in the future at A.S.U. HAVE FUN
but be careful & Take care

Chris Moran

D'Anne,
Considering how much shit
we've given each other, I'm still confident that we've become friends. I hope that you have had a great senior year, and make sure you keep an eye on Kerry (I hope that's his name.) Because I don't want to have to kick his ass!! Take care, and have a great summer. Hope to see you at ASU!!

It's been fun knowing you. We had great times with you during basketball. I'm really going to miss you. So if you happen to get married send me an invitation.
I want us to keep in touch. Have a great summer and good luck in school. I'll miss you. Write me okay?

D'Anne -

It's been great having you in my COE class and in Free Enterprise. Those classes would have been boring if I didn't listen to how much you missed your boyfriend.
Have a great summer.

Brenda

D'ANNE -

D'Anne,

Thanks
for all of the good times &
all the laughs!
Mr. Mullin's was
fund so was COE.
Have a great summer! Good luck in whatever you do! Love,

Kim
s. we'll have to have a COE reunion!

D'Anne,
Sure it's over! It's been great these three years. Next year we won't be here and it will be quite different. Hope you and Kerry have a great time while in college. Don't leave him over your apartment
every night (hint). Keep in touch. Don't never forget your crazy friend. I will always be the same person. Take care.

Love ya

Kyrre
I hope you have a great time in college
and don't forget to write me often. I'll be here for you always. Love
you. Kim
